IMPROVEMENT IN CONSOLS.

HALIFAX, Friday, April 9.

The Royal Mail Steamship America, Captain MOODIE, from Liverpool, at 9 A. M. of Saturday, March 27, arrived at Halifax at 3¼ P. M., on Friday, April 9. The America has had heavy westerly gales since April 1.

The America reports March 28, passed in the Channel steamship Europa, from New-York, for Liverpool. Same day, at 11 A. M., passed the American ship Endymion, bound up Channel; and at 5 P. M., the British ship Lady Bird, bound out; and the American ship Byzantium, bound up Channel.

On the 31st ult., lat. 49° long. 25°, exchanged signals with British ship Childe Harold; also, saw an American ship with a cross in the close reef of her foretopsail, both steering eastward.

The America crossed the Banks in lat. 43, lon. 50; saw no ice.

The steamship Anglo-Saxon, from Portland, arrived out at 11 o'clock on the morning of the 25th ult.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Parliamentary proceedings on the 24th ult. were unimportant.

On the 25th, in the House of Lords, Earl MALMESBURY, referring to the case of the British engineers at Naples, stated that Mr. WATT had arrived in England very much improved in health, and that a telegraphic dispatch had been received from Mr. LYONS, stating that Mr. PARKES had been liberated on bail.

The same subject attracted attention in the Commons. Mr. GRIFFITHS asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether if, in the opinion of the law officers of the crown, the capture of the Cagliari proved illegal, it was intended to demand from the Neapolitan Government full and ample compensation to the engineers for the treatment they received. Mr. DISRAELI declined to answer.

General PEEL announced that it had been determined to grant a medal to all troops serving in India, and to give a clasp for service at Delhi and Lucknow.

Mr. ROEBUCK brought forward his motion for the abolition of the Irish Vice-Royalty. After some debate, a motion for the previous question was negatived by a majority of 127, when the subject dropped, the main question not having been put.

In the House of Lords on the 26th, the sanitary condition of the army was debated, and the Government promised the adoption of all necessary improvements.

In the House of Commons, Government was asked whether it meant to prosecute the Directors of the Western Bank of Scotland. The reply was that they had no materials before them to justify prosecution.

Mr. HENLEY announced that the Government had no intention of introducing any measure in regard to the passing of tolls and local dues on shipping this season.

Mr. DISRAELI moved for leave to bring in a bill to amend the government of India, and explained its provisions at length. Like the bill of the former Government, it abolishes entirely the East India Company and Board of Control, and substitutes in their place a Council, composed of a President, Vice-President, and eighteen members, the President to be a Secretary of State. It was not proposed to interfere with the powers of the Governor-General.

The details of the bill were objected to by sundry members, but leave was given to bring it in.

The appointment of General PELISSIER as Ambassador from France, gave very general satisfaction in England. The Times believes the English nation may be fairly gratified by the appointment of the Emperor, as he is said to have declared that he selected this distinguished soldier as a tribute of respect to the alliance, to the English people, and to the two armies.

The Times' correspondent believes General PELISSIER to be a warm partizan of the English alliance and says that, on a recent occasion, before the Privy Council, he expressed himself very strongly to that effect.

The Herald unhesitatingly asserts that the resignation of Count PERSIGNY does not proceed from any difference with the existing administration, but is the result of some divergence of opinion on certain matters between him and Count WALEWSKI.

The log of the United States steam frigate Niagara shows that on several occasions during the trip to England she ran over three hundred miles in twenty-four hours. She would have made a quicker run but for the bad quality of the coal.

It was reported that Mr. ALLSOP, ORSINI'S accomplice, had offered to surrender himself provided the Government would be at the cost of his defence.

The returns of the Board of Trade exhibit a falling off in the exports for February of over two millions sterling, as compared with the same month last year.

The British Government have decided, it is said, to repair and augment the fortifications at Malta with activity.

The appeal from the decision of the Court of Admiralty in the matter of the collision between the American ship Tuscarora and Andrew Foster, has resulted in the decision being affirmed.

The Dukes of WELLINGTON and DEVONSHIRE have been created Knights of the Garter.

The steamer Nova Scotian, for the Canadian line, had been launched.

Nothing official had been issued in regard to the Indian loan. It was supposed that the whole or greater part of it would be taken by Joint Stock Banks and Insurance Companies, so that it would be scarcely heard of in the money market. It was supposed the biddings would range from 98@100.

Lord MALMESBURY has inaugurated his reign at the Foreign office by the following important changes:

Lord A. LOFTUS, Secretary of Legation at Berlin, will succeed Sir HAMILTON SEYMOUR at Vienna.

Sir J. CRAMPTON, Minister at Hanover and late Minister to the United States, will succeed Lord WODEHOUSE at St. Petersburg.

Mr. BUCHANAN, Minister at Copenhagen, will succeed Lord HOWDEN at Madrid.

Mr. ELLIOT, Secretary of Legation at Vienna, will succeed Mr. BUCHANAN at Copenhagen.

Mr. HOWARD, Secretary of the Embassy at Paris, will succeed Lord Normandy as Minister at Florence.

Lord CHELSEA will succeed Mr. HOWARD as Secretary of the Embassy at Paris.

The Times, in a leading article, expresses its gratification at the removal of Lord NORMANDY from Florence, but complains of the appointment of Mr. HOWARD. With this exception, it thinks the appointments indicate a disposition to acknowledge the claims of long service and experience.

Dr. FORBES WINSLOW has been requested by the Foreign Office to report upon the mental state of Mr. WATTS, the Engineer.

Mr. COBDEN has been elected an honorary member of the Athenæum Club, on the ground of his eminent public services.

FINANCIAL AFFAIRS.

The supply of money continued very abundant, but, although it was generally anticipated, the Bank of England had made no reduction in its rates.

At the general meeting of the Canada Company, no dividend was declared.

The Daily News city article of the 27th, says: "A decided improvement has taken place in the funds, owing to the accumulation of unemployed money, coupled with the relief to the feeling of expectation involved in the definitive issue of the Indian loan. The market closed to-day with great firmness at a fresh rise of ⅛ per cent. The other departments of the Stock were generally stronger. At the Bank to-day there were no bullion operations worthy of notice. There was no increase in the applications for money at the Bank to-day, but in the open market a better demand was experienced. First-class bills are still freely discounted out of doors at 2¼@2½ ₩ cent. It is remarked that the terms for long dated paper have advanced ¼, and even 6 ₩ cent is being paid in many cases for good six months' bills. This circumstance seems altogether unconnected with the recent decision of the Bank relative to rediscounts. The banks do not discount bills having more than 95 days to run. Smaller discount houses finding their facilities diminished do not care to block up their funds in six months' bills. Foreign Exchanges were firm this afternoon at Tuesday's rates.

The Times City article, of the 27th, says: "The funds opened steadily at the improved prices of yesterday, but subsequently experienced a further advance which was well maintained. The strength of the market is entirely consequent upon the state of the foreign Exchanges, and the general belief that the Bank rate will on Thursday next be reduced to two and one-half per cent. Money was in rather increased demand to-day, both in the discount market and Stock Exchange, but this is to be attributed merely to the usual requirements at the end of the quarter in foreign Exchanges. This afternoon the rate upon Amsterdam was slightly firmer, and on other places generally without alteration. The railway traffic returns for the United Kingdom show a difference of seventeen thousand nine hundred and seventy pounds, for the week ending March 20. Yesterday the price at which it was conjected the new loan would be taken, was between 98 and 99, but it is now doubted if it will be so high, since the leading firms do not announce any intention of forming lists where the total exceeds one or two millions. It is always best to invite the coöperation of firms accustomed to operations of the kind, instead of adopting the French plan of calling upon the public indiscriminately, by offering to receive tenders for small sums."

INDIA.

There is nothing later than the telegraphic advices taken out by the steamer Indian to Portland, but an official dispatch to the East India Government, says that COLIN CAMPBELL, with his force, consisting of fifteen regiments of European infantry, three regiments of Native infantry, three regiments of European cavalry, three regiments and detachments of two others of Native cavalry, with eighty heavy guns and mortars, and sixty-three field-pieces, had crossed the Ganges, and was in progress to Lucknow. The attack was expected to take place on the 27th of February, when JUNG BAHADOOR'S and General FRANK'S forces, 12,000 strong, would also have reached Lucknow.

FRANCE.

The Paris Constitutionnel of the 25th ult. has an article in large type on the alliance between France and England. Most friendly sentiments are expressed throughout. It says that the Duke DE MALAKOFF personifies the alliance as a living memorial of common glory and common perils, and that the Emperor could not have made a choice more significant or more flattering for the Queen and English people.

The Paris Bourse on the 25th exhibited an animation to which it had been for some time a stranger, and a rise in the funds assumed a decided character.

The London Globe's Paris correspondent says a line of rail is about to traverse the West coast of France, from Bordeaux through Rochelle, Brest, and Nantes. It is clearly a strategetic rather than a commercial project, as the coasting trade by the steamers is quite adequate for mercantile purposes along the Atlantic border of France.

Petitions demanding a reduction of duties on Sugar and Coffee, were pouring upon the Government in large numbers.

The Minister of the Interior had ordered all the artillery in the several towns of France to be dismounted and deposited in the arsenals, on the plea that they are in such a state as to be dangerous to use, and promising they should be replaced by artillery in better condition. The impression prevailed that the guns were removed lest they should fall into the peoples' hands in case of a rising.

SPAIN.

Some disturbances had occurred at Valencia, and a few arrests were made. Quiet was easily restored. The agitation was occasioned by the drawing of a lottery. There were also doubtful rumors of disturbances at Saragossa.

Telegrams from Madrid to the 22d ult. say that the Government has presented a project for the abolition of Slavery in the colonies of Spain.

ITALY.

A Turin letter says that Count CAVOUR has sent another note, written in very energetic terms, to the Government of Naples, on the refusal of the latter to give up the Cagliari.

DENMARK AND PRUSSIA.

The late Danish propositions are said to be unacceptable to Prussia, in consequence of their containing nothing precise.

RUSSIA.

Great agitation prevails in Russia, in consequence of the opposition of the nobility to the emancipation of the serfs. Many great proprietors had fled to St. Petersburg in fear of their lives.

A letter from Warsaw states that a camp of 100,000 men will be formed towards the middle of May. This is considered as a manifestation against Austria.

TURKEY.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that 800 Montenegrins had violated the Austrian Territory and penetrated Herzegovina. Forty of them entered Sutorina and burned everything.

The Russian Ambassador at Constantinople is understood to have notified his Government that Turkey refuses to submit to the treaty for the navigation of the Danube.

Several irregular corps were being organized in Bosnia by wealthy Turkish Beys.

LIVERPOOL COTTON MARKET.

The Brokers' Circular says the Cotton Market opened buoyant at an advance on all grades of ⅛d.@¼d., but owing to the unfavorable advices brought by the America, a reaction subsequently took place, and it closed at a decline of ⅛d. on middling and ¼d. on the lower grades on the rates advised by the Persia. The sales of the week footed up 65,000 bales, of which speculators took 4,500 and exporters 9,500. The sales yesterday were 7,000 bales, of which 1,000 were to speculators and 1,000 for export. IMPORTANT FROM WASHINGTON.

The Deficiency Bill Passed in the House.

A National Printing Office—Developments Before the Printing Investigating Committee—The Tariff Investigation—Premature Announcement of Colonel Benton's Death, &c.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 9.

The passage of the Deficiency bill to-day was achieved by a liberal use of inducements as to the acceptance of new regiments. Kentucky gave several votes on this consideration, and Ohio two or three. I think the vote to-day nearly settles the proposition that the Ohio and Kentucky regiments will be accepted. The Administration feel greatly relieved and elated.

The Printing Investigating Committee met this evening, and substantially agreed on the bill of the Hon. GEORGE TAYLOR, to establish a Government Printing Office, under a Commissioner and the Secretary of the Interior, where the printing, binding and engraving of Congress, the Departments, and every branch of Government will be executed. The Committee will probably be ready to report early next week, and the report will make the most interesting developments, showing the enormous profits hitherto made. It is said that WENDELL pays twenty thousand dollars a month for the bare privilege of executing the work for other parties.

The Tariff Investigating Committee also talk of reporting next week. I am told that Governor BANKS has been here and had an interview with Mr. STANTON, the Chairman, on the developments before the Committee, but other members know nothing of the nature of his communications.

The bill of Senator DOUGLAS, creating an additional judicial district in New-Mexico, makes the submission of the Constitution to the people hereafter requisite for admission in all Territories of the United States, except Utah, and dispenses hereafter with a special enabling act. O.

[FROM THE REPORTER FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 9.

The announcement in the House of the death of Colonel BENTON was premature. He is still alive, though in a sinking condition. Before the members separated a letter was read, dated yesterday, written by Colonel BENTON to Senator HOUSTON and Mr. JONES, of Tennessee, saying, that in the event of his death he expressly desires no notice to be taken of it. No rule of either House would justify such a proceeding, and, besides, it was contrary to his convictions expressed many years ago.

Col. BENTON rallied sufficiently this evening to dictate several letters.

The number of vessels of various classes, the names of which have been changed under the act of March, 1856, the authority being vested in the Secretary of the Treasury, is fifty-one. The records at the Treasury do not show that any of them have been lost or foundered at sea with the exception of the Central America. No specific reason was given for changing its name from George Law.

The amount in the Treasury subject to draft is over six millions. The receipts last week were nearly five hundred and fifty-six thousand dollars.

Lieut. RENSHAW has been appointed to the brig Bainbridge, preparing at Norfolk, to join the African squadron.

XXXVth CONGRESS........First Session.

The Senate was not in session to-day, having adjourned yesterday until Monday.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Friday, April 9.

Mr. LOVEJOY, of Illinois, made an ineffectual effort to introduce a resolution calling on the Secretary of War to inform the House how many army officers are absent from their duties, and at the seat of Government, and how many hold civil office, by election or otherwise.

Mr. BRANCH, of North Carolina, spoke with reference to the reconsideration of the vote by which the Deficiency Bill was rejected. He hesitated not to declare that the monstrous expenditures of the Army had reached a point to induce the entire country to rise and demand a reform, and pointed out the way by which this could be effected. He believed, as heretofore declared by the House, in the form of a resolution, that Utah was in a state of rebellion. It is now too late and unjust to undertake to control the discretion of the President as to the disposal of the troops.

Mr. J. GLANCY JONES, in reply, said the Quartermaster-General did not send the estimates on his own responsibility, but they were received with the indorsement of the Secretary of War.

Mr. BRANCH was satisfied with the explanation, and was glad to find that no outrage on property had been perpetrated by any bureau officer.

The vote by which the bill was rejected was reconsidered.

The House then refused to recommit the bill to the Committee of Ways of Means.

The bill then passed—Yeas 110, Nays 97.

The House agreed that when adjourning, it shall be to Monday at 2½ o'clock.

The motion was unanimously agreed to.

The Defeat of the Deficiency Bill—Condition of the Finances—Probable Result of the Lecompton Struggle.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday March 9, 1858.

The loss of the Deficiency Bill yesterday was in accordance with the statements published in this correspondence one week ago. The Administration was of course deeply anxious for the success of this bill. It had been carefully drawn up in the Committee of Ways and Means, and its items pared down to the lowest amounts consistent with the necessities of the service. The summing up of the items gave the amount of $9,669,000, of which nearly $8,000,000 was for the army; $1,400,000 for extra transportation of the mail; $200,000 for surveys in California, and about $50,000 for contingent expenses of the House of Representatives. Of the sum designed for the army $5,000,000 in round numbers has been already expended, and $3,000,000 are wanted for the expenses attending the supply and reinforcement of the army in Utah.

The loss of such a bill must be a severe blow to the Administration, and will not be given up without a further struggle. Mr. BRANCH, of North Carolina, gave notice of another contest over the bill, by entering a motion to reconsider. A conclusive defeat of this measure will be regarded as a vote of censure upon the setting on foot and the manner of conducting the Utah Expedition; because all the members understand, and none deny, that the supplies intended to be provided by appropriations in the Deficiency bill are essential to the maintenance of the army now actually in the field. Without them the army must be withdrawn; and Mr. LETCHER explained that large appropriations would be necessary to provide means for withdrawing them.

To show the resources of the Treasury, and its capacity to meet the probable cost of any warlike operations, I have prepared the following table of receipts, expenditures and balances during the quarter ending on the 31st of March last:

Date.	Receipts.	Drafts paid.	Balances.
Dec. 31, 1857	—	—	$5,014,705
1858.
Jan. 18	$1,666,971	$1,603,573
Jan 25	935,140	1,110,701
Feb. 1	1,625,745	1,052,184
Feb. 5	663,746	1,101,014
Feb. 15	649,585	675,975
Feb. 22	464,351	653,894
March 1	655,264	727,177	3,969,000
March 8	535,456	976,992
March 15	453,485	581,731
March 22	4,866,058	1,812,532	6,881,000
March 29	949,552	1,131,718
March 31	555,843	1,163,879	6,149,828
Total	$13,521,191	$12,691,360

By some error of copying which I have not now time to ascertain and correct, there is a discrepancy of about $300,000 between the excess of receipts and the increase of balance, but it is not material to the purpose of the statement. Among the thirteen and a half millions of receipts are a portion of the proceeds of the sale of Treasury notes to the amount of $11,000,000. Were the whole sum thus obtained included, the actual revenue from permanent and regular sources would appear to be but $2,500,000 for the quarter, which would be obviously erroneous. The receipts, however, were unprecedentedly meagre, and there is no certain promise of such a revival of trade as will render the Treasury independent of aids from loans and Treasury notes. Yet, as the Secretary informs the members, expenditures cannot go on without appropriations, and if Congress means to abdicate its duty in that particular, no loans will be required. A loan bill of imposingly prominent features has been considered a contingency wearing an aspect of strong probability.

The result of the vote upon the Lecompton bill in the House yesterday, is eloquently suggestive of panic and retreat among the Democrats who have hitherto spurned the bonds of party on that measure. Mr. ENGLISH and Mr. HALL wavered and halted. They came up to the scratch when they found their evil example was not followed.

It seems that they expected two others to refrain from coöperation with the Anti-Lecomptonites long enough to procure a Committee of Conference. It is rumored that Mr. COCKERILL, of Ohio, is one of the members relied upon to yield this little point to the Senate and the Executive. I fear there is no reasonable doubt that a conference will be obtained, and after that, I think there is no doubt at all that Lecompton will be kneaded into a shape that will command a majority-vote of both Houses. The plan is said to be to submit the Lecompton scheme to the crucible of a Conference Committee, of which the Democrats shall have a majority, and to bring out an amalgam of the original bill and the Crittenden and Montgomery amendments which shall meet the objections of the seceding Democrats, and detach them from the coalition with the Republicans.

This arrangement seems the more probable, from the fact that the Senate has allowed the Minnesota bill to slip through their fingers, by which elusion a basis of compulsory compromise has been lost. The delegation from Minnesota is believed to be equally divided on the absorbing question, one-half going with the South, pro hac vice. Oregon will doubtless pursue the same policy. California has done so with singular consistency, and perhaps even Kansas, under any one of her numerous constitutions, would pursue the same conciliatory course. The object of it is to secure votes from all parties for local appropriations. A.

BRIGHAM YOUNG THREATENS TO ANNIHILATE THE U. S. TROOPS.

ST. LOUIS, Friday, April 9.

The St. Joseph's Gazette announces the arrival at that place of ALEXANDER CONSTANT, from Fort Kearney 30th ult. Mr. CONSTANT reports that BRIGHAM YOUNG had notified Col. JOHNSTON to leave the Territory of Utah by the 10th of March, otherwise his troops would be annihilated. YOUNG had also tendered to the army sufficient provisions to last them to the States. Mr. CONSTANT met a supply train of one hundred and sixty wagons, accompanied by four companies of troops, on the 1st inst., on the Little Blue River. He also reports the Indians all peaceable.

Reported Loss of the Brig Bloomer.

HALIFAX, N. S., Friday, April 9.

We have received no intelligence whatever from the missing brig Bloomer, from Boston for New-Foundland, except the rumors from St. Johns, N. F., which are clearly without any foundation beyond the fact that she was much overdue at Placentia Bay. If she was wrecked, the disaster probably occurred upon Sable Island, from which place no intelligence has been received since the 11th ult. The Government here will dispatch a cutter to the Island probably on Saturday, and on her return some ten days hence we may have tidings of the missing brig.

The Mails for Europe—The Offer of the Vanderbilt.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

With reference to the communication in the TIMES of this morning, stating that the Vanderbilt was offered to the Post-Office Department to take the mails of to-morrow, and refused, permit me to state the facts of the case, as follows:

The City of Baltimore was to sail on the 8th inst., but offered to postpone the trip to the 10th—the regular Collins day—for Liverpool direct, and return from Liverpool on the 28th inst. with the United States mails, for the sea postage. Mr. VANDERBILT made no offer to the Postmaster of the City. He had, prior to the 3d of April, offered to the Department to convey the mails to Southampton, by the Vanderbilt, at the same rate of compensation as would have been received by the regular Collins steamer, if it should perform the trip. This the Department declined, having no power to substitute a steamship on the Collins line, under the contract, which is with the Navy Department. The Department also informed Mr. VANDERBILT of the offer of the City of Baltimore. The whole matter was left with the Postmaster of the City of New-York, for his decision. On the 2d of April inst., Mr. FOWLER wrote to Mr. TORRANCE, agent of the steamship Vanderbilt, asking if he proposed tendering the Vanderbilt. He replied that Mr. VANDERBILT was out of town, and would return on Saturday, when a reply would be made.

On Saturday Mr. TORRANCE called at the Post-Office, and said he would make a tender on that day, early in the afternoon. Up to 3 o'clock P. M. on Monday, not one word, either verbal or written, was heard from Mr. TORRANCE, and Mr. FOWLER concluded there was no intention of making a tender beyond the one made to the Department, the only knowledge of which he had on the 5th, from the Department. As the steamship City of Baltimore was advertised to sail on the 8th, it was necessary if she was to be delayed that a decision should be made; and accordingly, at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon, the Postmaster decided to accept the tender of the City of Baltimore for the round trip.

The facts stated in this article are obtained from the correspondence between the Post-Office and the Department at Washington. Yours,

ONE WHO KNOWS ALSO.

THOMAS H. BENTON.

Sketch of His Life and Public Services.

[From the New American Cyclopædia, Vol. III, to be Published on June 1.]

THOMAS HART BENTON was born near Hillsborough, Orange County, N. C., March 14, 1782. His father died when he was eight years old; his early education was imperfect; he was for some time at a grammar school, and afterward at Chapel Hill, the University of North Carolina, but finished no course of study there, as his mother removed to Tennessee to settle on a tract of land belonging to his father's estate. THOMAS studied law, and soon rose to eminence in that profession. He was now elected to the Legislature, serving only a single term, during which he procured the passage of a law reforming the judicial system, and of another giving to slaves the benefit of a jury trial, the same as white men. One of his earliest friends and patrons was ANDREW JACKSON, at that time a Judge of the Supreme Court, and subsequently Major-General of the State Militia. BENTON became his aide-de-camp, and during the war also raised a regiment of volunteers. It was from that service he derived the title of Colonel, which has clung to him through life. Notwithstanding the close intimacy between JACKSON and himself, which was one of the most cordial and unreserved character, a rude and sudden rupture took place in which severe pistol and dagger wounds were given, and produced a rencontre that estranged them for many years.

After the volunteers were disbanded Mr. MADISON appointed Colonel BENTON, in 1812, a lieutenant-colonel in the army, but on his way to serve in Canada, in 1814, he heard the news of the peace and resigned. He now removed to Missouri, and took up his abode in the city of St. Louis in 1815. There he devoted himself anew to his profession. Soon, however, engaging in the politics of the day, he was led to the establishment of a newspaper entitled the Missouri Argus. In this position he was involved in many disputes and contentions. Duels were usual at that time, and he had his share of them, with their unhappy consequences. In one of them, which was forced upon him, he killed his opponent, Mr. LUCAS—an event he deeply regretted, and all the private papers relating to which he has destroyed. His journal took a strong and vigorous stand in favor of the admission of Missouri, notwithstanding her Slavery Constitution, and when the angry controversy was terminated, he was rewarded for his labors by being chosen one of the first senators from the new State.

It is from this period, 1820, that his political history and the great influence he has exerted upon public affairs may be said to date. A man in the early prime of life, possessed of a commanding intellect, of large and liberal culture, an assiduous student, industrious, temperate, resolute, and endowed with a memory whose tenacity was marvelous, he soon placed himself in the front rank of those who shaped the councils of the nation. As a representative of the West, with the manifold interests of a frontier population intrusted to his care, Colonel BENTON forthwith devoted himself to securing a reform in the land system of the General Government. A pioneer himself in early life, he sympathized with the demands of that class, and his familiarity with the administration of Government taught him how fallacious and suicidal was the policy of attempting to derive a revenue from such a source. The general distress which prevailed throughout the country in 1820, and which bore with especial hardship upon the land-purchasers of the West, attracted attention to this subject, and afforded cause for the initiative which was taken in Congress in liberalizing the system. A measure, devised by Mr. CRAWFORD, Secretary of the Treasury, changing all future sales to the cash basis, reducing the price to $1 25 per acre, and allowing a discount equal to the difference to former purchasers, afforded material relief. But this was not all that was needed. First, a preëmptive right to all actual settlers; secondly, a periodic reduction according to the time sections had been in market, so as to make the prices correspond with the quality; and thirdly, the donation of homesteads to impoverished but industrious persons who would cultivate the soil for a given number of years, and thereby develop the resources of the country—these were all points essential to the needed reform. Col. BENTON apprehended the full scope of these changes, and determined to persist in urging them until they should be accomplished. The years 1824, 1826, 1828, accordingly found him doing battle for such amelioration of the entire system. A bill embracing these features was moved by him and renewed annually until it at last took hold upon the public mind. At first his speeches attracted more attention throughout the country than in Congress, for there his efforts were counteracted by schemes for dividing the public lands or the proceeds of their sales among the States. His firmness and position in the Senate as a supporter of the Administration of JACKSON, gave him great weight with that party, and he was thus enabled so far to impress his views upon the President that they were embodied in one of his messages, and from that date the ultimate triumph of land reform became only a question of time.

In his own State of Missouri, there were large quantities of saline and mineral lands which it had been the object of the General Government to withdraw from sale and farm out. This injurious monopoly was also aimed at in his measures, and he succeeded in effecting a change which threw all open to occupancy. Intimately blended with the same subject, and moved by the same considerations, were the efforts which he began during the first term of his senatorial service, to effect a repeal of the imposts upon all necessaries of life. These duties bore with great hardship upon the population of the valley of the Mississippi. It was a tribute levied upon them in part to sustain Government and in part to protect special interests. In some cases this was most unequal as well as oppressive, and we may cite the salt tax as one that at that time met with more hostility than any other. During the session of 1829-'30, Col. BENTON delivered the first elaborate argument against this burden upon a prime necessary, and afterward followed it up in such a manner as to effect its repeal.

In directing adventure to explorations in the Far West, in fixing the attention of Government upon the early occupancy of the mouth of the Columbia, in encouraging overland transit from the Atlantic to the Pacific, Col. BENTON was also prominent. He had previously devoted himself to these subjects, and written largely upon them in 1819, and no sooner had he taken his seat in the Senate than he made direct efforts to engage Congress and the public in the great enterprise. From the researches of CLARK and ROGERS, from the suggestions of JEFFERSON, from reports of trappers and voyagers, and from the courses of Continental streams, he first elaborated the project of overland connection, and as science expanded, and knowledge of the intervening wilderness became more definite, his views took form in the proposals which are now so largely occupying public attention for a great Central Railway. The route urged by him as preferable to all others is through the passes of the Rocky Mountains discovered by FREMONT, known as the Coochetope, and debouching upon California through gaps in the Sierra Nevada. For many years he was the leading advocate and support in the Senate of the whole scheme of western exploration. It will thus be seen that Col. BENTON became, almost at the outset of his career the exponent of western interests, and though largely participating in all the great measures and political struggles that separated parties, he never neglected what was due to his own immediate constituency. The success which has already attended land reform, the establishment of preëmption, the graduation of price, the donations to works of public improvement, all trace their origin to his continuous labors. In subordination to these leading objects, he likewise did much to open up and protect the trade with New-Mexico, to encourage the establishment of military stations on the Missouri, and throughout the interior, to cultivate amicable relations with Indian tribes, and to favor the commerce of our inland seas that now bear such a wealth of freights. The marking out of post-roads, and securing appropriations for their maintenance, was especially a work of his own undertaking, and its benefit has been deeply felt in every branch of western trade.

Upon the wider theatre of national politics the career of Col. BENTON was equally remarkable.

In the currency disputes which attended the expiration of the charter of the Bank of the United States, the recharter afterward, and the final veto message of JACKSON, Col. BENTON addressed himself to a consideration of the whole question of finance, circulating medium and exchange, and brought forward his propositions for a gold and silver currency as the true remedy for existing embarrassments, and the only rightful medium for Government disbursements and receipts. Upon this subject he made many of the most elaborate speeches of his life, speeches that betray great research, a close study of finance, and a full knowledge of the evils that so often attend expanded paper issues. In Europe, as well as in America, his expositions attracted great attention, and extended widely his reputation as a debater, a thinker, and a practical statesman. At this time his manner of oratory was deliberate and unimpassioned, his matter full to overflowing with facts, figures, logical deduction and historical illustration; but almost wholly devoid of that exuberance of wit and raciness of humor which characterize his later discourses. The elaboration which he gave to these views paved the way for subsequent legislation upon the national finance, and did much to consolidate the sentiment of the Democratic Party in favor of the Sub-Treasury system which was eventually adopted. It was from the financial policy which he thus enunciated that he derived the sobriquet of "Old Bullion," which has never forsaken him, and which also he never forsook.

Throughout the long and critical struggle between the Administration of JACKSON and the advocates of the re charter of the National Bank, he was the main stay and support of the President in the Senate, and acting in strictest unity with his party, held high place in their affection and confidence. The records of his labors in that behalf will be found upon almost every page of the debates of Congress. As the mover of the "expunging resolutions," Colonel BENTON made himself especially obnoxious to his political opponents, but finally achieved success, and gained a great personal triumph. The motion was to strike from the Journals of the Senate a resolution of censure upon General JACKSON, and the passion of partisans clothed the contest with an importance at the time far greater than will attach to it in the future; but as an exhibition of many traits of Colonel BENTON'S character, persistency, keen sagacious insight, stubborn devotion to the fame of his party chief, unquailing courage, and confidence of success, in the face of an adverse majority, no act of his life was more striking. During the succeeding Administration of Mr. VAN BUREN, much of Col. BENTON'S time was devoted to the defence of the new financial policy, then being inaugurated. Upon the questions relating to the Oregon boundary, the annexation of Texas, and various other important matters growing out of our foreign relations between the Presidential terms of TYLER and TAYLOR, Col. BENTON took a leading and influential part. On the first of those he differed from the Democratic Administration of Mr. POLK, which had declared for the line of 54° 40', but the powerful effort of Col. BENTON, in which he reviewed the whole controversy, and elucidated the claims of the United States with much force, was not to be withstood, and the Administration and party were content to acquiesce in his views, and accept the line of 49° as the northern boundary.

During the Mexican war, also, his services, and intimate acquaintance with the Spanish provinces of the South, to whose history he had devoted much attention, proved most useful to the Government. It was upon his suggestion that the policy of "masterly inactivity," at first determined upon by the President, was finally abandoned, and a vigorous prosecution of the war urged in its stead. His counsels were much sought also in regard to maturing a plan of campaign and conquest for compelling a peace, and at one time it was proposed by President POLK to confer upon him the title of Lieutenant-General with full command of the war, in order that he might carry out his conceptions in person. The project, however, was never consummated. The bill, creating the rank of Lieutenant-General passed the House, but was defeated in the Senate. The acquisition of Mexican territory brought on disputes in Congress touching the question of Slavery, which, after threatening the peace of the country, were adjusted by the Compromise acts of 1850. Col. BENTON opposed this Compromise, offered by Mr. CLAY, as being a vicious system of legislation, as fraudulent in regard to the Texas donation, and as defective and ill-judged in its clause in regard to the Fugitive Slave Law. The acts, however, though defeated as a whole, passed separately.

In the violent rupture which had taken place between Gen. JACKSON and Mr. CALHOUN, and which made its mark upon parties as well as persons, Col. BENTON had warmly espoused the side of the former at the very outset. Shortly previous to that, the doctrine of nullification had first been broached at a dinner party in celebration of the birth-day of Mr. JEFFERSON, receiving an indorsement from Mr. CALHOUN, and meeting with strong rebuke from Gen. JACKSON. After the rupture, political antagonism heightened the animosity of the parties, and nullification assumed threatening proportions in the acrimonious disputes growing out of the tariff regulations. Col. BENTON, in his close affiliation with the administration, became the leading Democratic opponent of Mr. CALHOUN upon this question in the Senate, and the divergence which then manifested itself grew and widened as years progressed, and was the fruitful cause of a life-long hostility and opposition between them. The adjustment, however, was incomplete, and the compromise of 1833 proved to be only a lull in the storm. The same views in regard to State rights reappeared in the field of politics in connection with the far more complicated question of domestic Slavery. This was manifested first in the conflict in the House of Representatives in 1835, upon the discussion of abolition petitions, but the action of that body suppressed the cause of strife, and it was not until 1846-'7 that the same policy was renewed. The principles sought to be enforced were admitted to be identical with those of the first nullification movement; the causes assigned and the machinery for enforcement were different. Although representing a Slave State, Colonel BENTON did not on account of the subject matter involved deviate from the positions he had maintained on former occasions.

At the earliest announcement of the new programme in the Senate of the United States he stood forth to the attack. It was the beginning of a warfare that was eventually to prostrate himself at home, and drive him from the seat he had so long filled in the Senate. On Feb. 19, 1847, Mr. CALHOUN introduced a set of resolutions in the Senate, declaring the doctrines he wished to insist upon in regard to the territorial powers of Congress, the admission of States, and the use of common property, all bearing directly upon the Slavery question, and the exciting issues that had been evoked by the proposed restriction known as the "Wilmot Proviso," which required the exclusion of Slavery from all new territory to be acquired by the United States. They were immediately denounced by Col. BENTON as "fire brand resolutions." Mr. CALHOUN expressed his surprise, stating he had expected the support of Col. BENTON, as he was from a Slave State. Col. BENTON retorted that he had no right to expect such a thing. "Then," said Mr. CALHOUN, "I shall know where to find the gentleman;" to which Col. BENTON responded, "I shall be found in the right place—on the side of my country and the Union." The resolutions never came to a vote, but they were sent to the Legislature of every Slave State, were adopted by some of them, and became the basis of after-conflict and party organization. It was determined by their author to make them the grounds of instructions to Senators in Congress, and for this purpose they were sent to Missouri, and confided to the hands of Democrats in the Legislature unfriendly to Col. BENTON'S reëlection. Without exciting inquiry, and under the sanction of leading members of the party whose fealty was not then suspected, they were passed in both branches and sent to Washington. Col. BENTON no sooner received the instructions than he denounced them as not being expressive of the sense of the people, as containing disunion doctrines, and as designed to produce an eventual separation of the States. He announced that he would appeal from the Legislature to the people, and immediately after the adjournment of Congress returned to Missouri for that purpose. He began the canvass of the State, and prosecuted it in every section in a series of speeches, which for bitterness of denunciation, strength of exposition, and caustic wit, have scarcely their equal in the English language. The Whig Party of the State at first sustained his position, but finding a propect of reaping a triumph of their own from the divisions of the Democracy, they changed front, and affiliated with the "Anties," as the Democratic opponents of Col. BENTON were called. The result in 1849-'50 was the return of a legislature largely Democratic, but composed of opposite wings, the Benton men being in the plurality. Many ballotings for Senator were had without compromise; but a bargain was at length struck between Whigs and Anties, and 16 of those chosen by the people as Democrats, but unfriendly to Col. BENTON, voted for HENRY S. GEYER, who was elected. Mr. GEYER was a Whig, but had committed himself to the anti-Benton party in a letter prior to his election. Many of his party following his lead they soon coalesced with the opposition Democrats, and in after campaigns, by adroit management, they gained control of the State Government. This was chiefly effected through the instrumentality of Mr. STERLING PRICE, who, although elected Governor as a supporter of the views of Col. BENTON, yet, after a pretended compromise of the two Democratic wings, was no sooner sworn into office than he changed over to the opposition, carrying several of the other State officers along with him. To vindicate his position, and to break up the ascendency which the so-called nullification party was thus acquiring, Col. BENTON, in 1852, made a more direct appeal to the people in the Congressional District in which he resided, announced himself a candidate for Congress, and was elected over all opposition.

In the session that followed he at first gave a warm support to the Administration of President PIERCE, but that soon falling under the control of the adherents of Mr. CALHOUN, Col. BENTON withdrew his support, and the Administration in turn making a war upon him, displaced from office all his friends throughout Missouri. Soon the repeal of the Missouri Compromise was mooted, and became a party measure in the shape of the Kansas-Nebraska bill. Against this Col. BENTON exerted himself with all his strength, delivering a memorable speech in the House, that did much to excite the country against the act, but failed to defeat its passage. The next election coming on in 1854, Col. BENTON was defeated in his own district by a combination of his old opponents with the new American party that had just arisen, and Mr. KENNETT was returned in his stead. Retiring from active politics, he then determined to devote his leisure to writings and study more congenial to his age; but was prevailed upon by his friends to suffer his name to be used as a candidate for Governor of Missouri in the election of 1856. Once more laying aside the pen, and starting forth to canvass the State, he was received everywhere with enthusiastic applause. Immense masses of people gathered to hear him, his old political friends rallied to his standard, and his course became a triumphant procession. But a third list of candidates was in the field representing the American Party, although most of its members sympathized with Col. BENTON, and those who did not voted for his adversary instead of the candidate of their own party. Mr. TRUSTEN POLK (National Democrat) was thereby elected by a trifling plurality. The result of Col. BENTON'S canvass, however, was to restore, in a great measure, the conservative feeling of the State, and to prepare the way for a more liberal policy upon all domestic subjects. His friends up to the hour of election were sanguine of his success. He himself was never so, but felt himself fully repaid for all his toil by the impress he had made upon public opinion, and the reaction he had effected against disunion politics.

In the Presidential election of November, 1856, Colonel BENTON supported Mr. BUCHANAN in opposition to his own son-in-law, Colonel FREMONT. The reason assigned by him was a confidence that Mr. BUCHANAN, if elected, would restore the principles of the Jackson Administration, and the apprehension that the success of Colonel FREMONT would engender sectional parties fatal to the permanence of the Union. He soon after saw occasion to change both opinions, and although in retirement, he zealously opposed the Administration of BUCHANAN, and inclined to unite with the Opposition that presented itself in the Republican Party.

After his defeat in 1856, Colonel BENTON devoted his time again to literary pursuits. Even before that time he had begun his "Thirty Years' View" of the working of the Government. This was completed and published in New-York in 1854. It is a retrospect of the period during which he held a seat in the Senate of the United States, and presents a connected narrative of the times from ADAMS to PIERCE, developing much of the secret history of the men and politics of that epoch. No sooner was that off his hands than he engaged in the still more laborious task of condensing, revising, and abridging the debates of Congress from the foundation of the Government to the present time. In this work, although at the advanced age of 76, his daily labors were almost incredible, and such as few men in the prime of manly life could support. This was accomplished in great part by means of a robust constitution, temperate habits, regular exercise, and daily resort to the cold bath. His health was still as perfect, his mind as unimpaired, and his interest in passing events as absorbing as ever. He also wrote in an interval of leisure a review of the decision of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case, which has attracted great attention. With a strong, industrious intellect, a dominating character, and quick appreciation of men, Col. BENTON has exercised a prominent influence upon national affairs. In Missouri his power was at one time boundless, and throughout the West he moulded public opinion to his will for many years. While adhering to strict party lines he was able to effect almost everything he attempted, and often standing forth alone he drew his party with him against the policy of Presidents and Cabinets. In his last attempt of this kind, however, he failed, and was forced to relinquish office as a consequence; but this crowning struggle was a testimony to his independence and sense of duty that will contribute no less to his fame with posterity than the honors which he received through party allegiance.

Colonel BENTON was married, after becoming Senator, to ELIZABETH, daughter of Col. JAMES MCDOWELL, of Rockbridge County, Va. His surviving children are four daughters—Mrs. WILLIAM CAREY JONES, Mrs. ANN BENTON FREMONT, Mrs. SARAH BENTON JACOB, and Madame SUSAN BENTON BOILEAU, now at Calcutta, wife of the French Consul-General. Mrs. BENTON died in 1854, having been struck with paralysis in 1844, and from the time of that calamity her husband was never known to go to any place of festivity or amusement.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

Before Judge Ingersoll.

James Bogardus vs. The Mayor, &c., of the City of New-York.—The plaintiff in this action sues for damages for an infringement of a patent issued to him in May, 1850, for improvements in the construction of the frame, room and floor of iron buildings. It seems that the City advertised for bids for the building of an iron bell tower at Mount Morris some eighteen feet in diameter, and some thirty feet high, and the plaintiff's method of construction was required in the specifications. The plaintiff put in a bid for the work, but did not make the lowest bid, and it was awarded to other parties, who went on and built the tower, using the plaintiff's method. The defendants claimed that these acts of the plaintiff amounted to a license from him to the Corporation, and that they were not liable therefor.

The plaintiff claimed damages at the rate of $10 a foot, while the defence claimed to have proved that the plaintiff had offered the use of his patent for $200 a building.

The Jury found a verdict for the plaintiff for the sum of $289.

For plaintiff, Mr. Keller; for defendants, Mr. Stoughton and Mr. Lawrence.

CRUEL AND UNUSUAL PUNISHMENT.

Charles Jack, mate of the ship James Foster, was put on trial, charged with beating one of the crew with a pair of brass knuckles, but was acquitted by the Jury.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Hon. Justice Davies.

THE STREET COMMISSIONER'S DIFFICULTY—MOTION FOR AN INJUNCTION AGAINST THE MAYOR—BOOKS TAKEN FROM THE OFFICE.

In the matter of the application of Charles Devlin.—Yesterday, on receipt of the news from Albany that Devlin's appointment as Street Commissioner was valid, Mr. Stillwell moved for an order to show cause why the Mayor, &c., should not be restrained from removing, or in any way interfering with the books and papers of the Street Commissioner's office, and an injunction asked meanwhile. An affidavit of a Mr. McCabe was presented, stating that a part of the records of the office had already been removed by the Mayor.

His Honor denied the injunction, but granted the order, returnable on Monday next.

DECISIONS.

John M. Jaycox et al. vs. Patrick Welch.—Motion to discharge from arrest denied with costs.

Moses Nichols vs. Jacob B. Boerum.—Motion denied without costs.

SUPERIOR COURT—GENERAL TERM.

SPECIAL ORDER.—On Saturday, April 10, at 11 o'clock A. M., the Trial Calendar will be called through in the room in which the principal Trial Term is held, for the purpose of selecting such causes as may be tried within an hour. Such cases will be placed on a Special Calendar. They will consist not only of actions arising on contract and brought for the recovery of money only, but of all actions triable within the time above stated. So much of the last week of the April Term as may be required for the purpose, will be devoted to the trial of the causes on the Special Calendar. When they are disposed of the day calendar will be made up of causes taken from the General Trial Calendar, commencing at the place which had been reached when the trial of the Special Calendar was commenced.

Shares in the Times—Suit for Dividend.

SUPERIOR COURT—GENERAL TERM—April 6.

Before Hon. Justices Hoffman, Slosson and Pierrepont.

Fletcher Harper vs. Henry J. Raymond et al.—This case was continued from Monday. After the conclusion of Mr. F. N. Bangs' argument for the plaintiff, the principal points of which, together with the leading facts, were given in yesterday's TIMES, Mr. Abbott addressed the Court on behalf of the defendants, the TIMES proprietors. He said it was to be observed at the outset that the proprietors of the TIMES were not a corporation. The controversy had arisen, he thought, from endeavoring to apply to the affairs of these parties the rules and principles applicable to the conduct of corporate affairs. These gentlemen had, it is true, agreed on a certain qualified imitation of corporate affairs. But they could not incorporate themselves. No power but the sovereign power of the State could draw their affairs under the law applicable to corporations. They now stood before the Court simply as partners. When they speak of "stock," the meaning in law is partnership capital. "Shares" are simply the proportions in which the interests are transferable. "Dividends" are simply partnership profits ascertained and ready to be divided. So with other terms. There was a similitude to corporate affairs, but no incorporation of the associates. He would concede that partners could modify the operation of the law of partnership upon their affairs, and in this instance they had done so; but the Court must look to the contract, not to the law of corporations, to govern the affairs of the partners. Whatever deviations from the law of partnership were authorized by the articles, were valid; but they could be carried no further than the contract carried them, at that point the case fell back under the general law of partnership, and all further questions must be settled by that code.

That point being settled at the outset, he would confine himself chiefly to two points of defence: First, that the assignment by Fletcher Harper, Jr., of his shares in the TIMES to the plaintiff, made July 29, 1855, absolutely cut off and determined all right and interest of either of the Messrs. Harper in all profits earned after that date; and, Second, that if there was in either Harper any shadow of claim or doubtful title to the dividend in controversy, existing in January, 1856, it was transferred to the defendant Wesley, by virtue of the compromise and agreement and assignment of January 30.

On the first point the counsel recapitulated the facts. In 1851, the defendants being desirous to establish a public journal agreed upon certain articles of copartnership, the sixth article of which provided as follows:

> "Each of the parties hereto shall have the right to sell any portion of his shares of stock; but before selling the same to any other person he shall offer the same to the Association, giving them the refusal thereof for ten days; * * * * and no such purchaser shall acquire any interest whatever in the profits of said papers till he shall have received a certificate or scrip for his said shares, signed by all the parties hereto, (viz.: the three defendants,) and duly registered in a book to be kept for that purpose."

The business was put in operation under the articles, and continued about two years, when Fletcher Harper, Jr., became purchaser of thirty shares, and received his scrip as provided for by the articles, and was elected a Director. He became fully a member of the Association. His title was for the purposes of the case, conceded. Things so continued for two years more down to July 29, 1855. On the 1st of July, 1855, a dividend was declared which exhausted the profits of the business up to that date; so that on the 29th day of July there were only twenty-nine days' profits in the treasury over and above the capital stock. Counsel would concede that on that day Fletcher Harper, Jr., was interested in those profits to the amount of thirty per cent. On that day he assigned his stock to his father, the present plaintiff. He did so without offering the stock to the Association; and so in violation of article 6. Yet it was not contended that the sale was therefore void. On the contrary, defendants would concede it to be good and valid, and that though Mr. Harper, Jr., had broken his contract with them, yet his assignee acquired a good title to all that Mr. Fletcher Harper, Jr., owned on that day; that is thirty shares of the capital stock, and thirty per cent. of the twenty-nine days' profits earned up to the 29th of July. Immediately on the transfer, one of the thirty shares was transferred back again by Mr. Fletcher Harper to his son, and the latter, on the basis of owning that share, continued in the direction, but it was not likely, counsel contended, that he would vote otherwise than as his father's proxy. Afterwards Mr. Fletcher Harper requested the defendants to transfer the twenty-nine shares to him on the books, and to issue scrip for them to him; but this they refused to do. They had always refused to recognize the sale to Mr. Fletcher Harper, because it was a violation of the articles. Things stood in this position for five months, at the end of which time a dividend was declared for Jan. 1, 1856. The other proprietors were paid their dividends, and a credit on the books of the establishment was made in the cash book, as follows: "Stock in dispute, thirty shares, $3,000." That entry was necessarily made to balance the books, and was made in that form to avoid any committal as to the right to the dividend. There were two disputes as to the stock. One was a suit brought by George Jones against Harper. Jones claimed that Harper had agreed to sell him the stock, and was bound to do so on receiving the agreed price. The other dispute was as to the right of Harper, Jr., to assign without offering the stock to the Association. Only one month later a suit was brought by Wesley to settle among other things that very dispute. The counsel for plaintiff had stated that the "dispute" referred to was the Jones suit. That was not in the case. It was mere inference; and he (Mr. Abbott) thought the Court were justified in inferring that both disputes were referred to; and that the object of the entry was merely to balance the books without expressing any opinion as to the right to the dividend. Then, on February 1, 1856, a month after the dividend was declared, Fletcher Harper, Jr., assigned all his claim to it to the plaintiff, who now sued to recover it.

Mr. Abbott thought, so far as his first point of defence was concerned, the case would turn wholly on the construction and effect which the Court should give to the prohibition in article sixth. The plaintiff's counsel had urged that the object could only be to enable the Association to hold the shares of a partner as security for debts due them from him; to prevent a partner from selling out without paying all he might owe to the firm. But he (Mr. Abbott) thought the object was much broader and more important;—it was to secure the independence of the journal which was to be established. The article could not operate to enable the firm to hold the stock for debts because it gave no such power. As to any claims against the retiring partner which were a lien on the stock, the assignee would take subject to the lien without reference to article sixth; and as to other debts, the article gave no right to require their payment. It was only the after-earned profits that were covered by the provision. The effect of the provision was that on a sale by any partner without an offer to the association, the purchaser took merely the share owned by his assignor in the net assets of partnership as they stood on the day of transfer. That right he could enforce by bringing an action to declare the partnership dissolved and to have the assets divided, after payment of debts, in the proportion of the respective shares. That was all he could claim, unless the other partners, as a voluntary act on their part, were willing to receive him as a copartner; in that case they issued scrip to him, and he then became entitled to share with them in profits. This was not a harsh rule nor an uncommon one. It was the ordinary rule in partnerships. If there had been no articles at all, then on the sale of Fletcher Harper's interest the partnership would have been ipso facto dissolved, and all that the purchaser could claim would have been the right to a division of the assets as they stood. He could not insist on coming in as a partner unless the other associates all assented. The only difference created by the articles was that a sale did not necessarily involve an instantaneous dissolution. There was a little breathing time—the affair stood open for a few days—and the associates could grow acquainted with the new man, and be with them. If he wished it, and they all wished it, scrip was to be issued to him, and that made him a partner of equal standing with themselves. But this was matter of mutual assent, and if any one refused his assent, there was nothing to be done but for the purchaser to demand his share of the assets and find some other investment. He could not let it lie in the concern six months and then claim profit. Neither could the retiring partner claim profits, because he had earned none. He had left the firm, sold out his stock, received his pay, and probably had interest on it elsewhere. The case was like a case of insurance, where the assured has sold the house before the fire. The purchaser can recover nothing because he is not insured, and the assured cannot because he has not lost anything.

There were special reasons in the case of a newspaper copartnership, the counsel contended, why each member should be allowed to blackball any stranger offering himself for membership. Nothing was more important to the success of a public journal than to preserve its independence; to keep it free from any and all private interests. The newspaper of modern times was to a great extent not the expression of editorial thought, but of the great public thought of its subscribers and that class which it represents. The power of a journal lay in its being known to give strong and clear expression to the half-formed floating thought of a large class of the people. It was of supreme importance that the conductors of a paper should avoid "entangling alliances" with any who might be thought to seek connection with the Press as a means of advancing other interests. An illustration might be drawn from this case. The members of the Court had doubtless some knowledge of the publishing house of Harper & Brothers. That firm was a very considerable power in affairs; and the magnitude and extent of their interests was matter of notoriety. He supposed there might be found abroad some small kingdom, whose interests were of less magnitude than those of this firm; whose royal demesnes were of less value than the private property of the Messrs. Harpers; whose annual exports did not exceed in value their publications. Some one, certainly, whose influence in promoting the welfare and stimulating the advancement of mankind, was not greater than that of these brothers. He would suppose, by way of argument, that the plaintiff was one of that firm, or that the associates might think so. It was obvious that they might not wish a firm of that character to acquire an interest or control in the conduct of the paper. It was reasonable and just to allow them to decide for themselves. The true contrivance of having Fletcher Harper, Jr., sell his shares to his father, take one of them back again, stay in the direction and vote as his father wished, and then assign each dividend to his father as it was declared, completely frustrated the intent of the articles, and should not be sanctioned by the law. The construction of article sixth was to give the purchaser all the retiring partner's share in the assets and profits up to that date; but to give neither any interest in profits afterwards earned.

The counsel then passed to the second point, viz.: That the claim of the Messrs. Harper to this dividend, whatever it might be worth, was sold out by them to Mr. Wesley, in January, 1856. There was, he stated, a suit brought in January by Wesley against the Harpers for a dissolution of the partnership and division of the proceeds. That suit involved, among other questions, the right of either of the Messrs. Harper to this dividend. Instead of defending it, they sold out their thirty shares, and all right, title and interest therein, to Mr. Wesley, for fifty thousand dollars—twenty thousand dollars above the par value. That showed, and all the circumstances evinced, an intent to sell out entire, and compromise and settle the whole controversy. That settlement ought to be held to pass to Mr. Wesley all that the Messrs. Harper owned, including this dividend, or their claim to it, if there was any. The defendants did not ask the Court to decide absolutely as to Mr. Wesley's title. They would adjust that question amongst themselves. All they wished was to defeat the claim of plaintiff; and whether these profits belonged to Mr. Wesley or to the association was immaterial in the present case, as in either case, the plaintiff could not recover them.

Several other points of a more technical character were also urged by the counsel. Mr. Bangs replied on behalf of the plaintiff. Decision reserved.

How Soon Can the Erie Canal Enlargement be Completed?

From the Albany Atlas and Argus.

Very few persons are aware of the precise condition of the works upon the Erie Canal Enlargement, the character of that remaining to be done, the periods of the year when it may be performed, and the brief space within which, with ample means, and with efficiency and honesty in the Engineer Department, it may be completed, and the large boat, with seven feet water, enabled to ply its entire length. We have endeavored to inform ourselves correctly in relation to these very important matters, and the following is the result of our inquiries in the best informed quarters, and in the accuracy of which we have entire confidence:

1. The work absolutely necessary to be done during the season of navigation, in 1858, is the earth embankment across the Montezuma Marshes—about four miles—which can be done during the season of navigation, being an independent line, and at a cost of about $120,000; also, similar work at Holly, cost, say $25,000.

2. All other work BELOW seven feet high water mark, can be done between the close of navigation, in the present year, and the commencement of that of 1859, so that the Erie Canal may be opened in 1859, with seven feet of water its entire length.

3. All the residue of the work, which will be the work ABOVE seven feet high water mark, can be done in the year 1859, during the season of navigation, and the entire enlargement completed, and the contracts closed in that year.

As a matter of course, this consummation can only be reached by the possession of ample means immediately on the close of navigation in this year, in order to take advantage of the five or six months to elapse before the opening in 1859. The quickest way to do this is by means of the loan law, the adoption of which by the people on the 2d November, may be known in all probability, within two or three days, and the utmost efficiency could be immediately given to the work.

It is, of course, presupposed that the Legislature will, at once, do whatever is considered necessary to give to the Engineer Department strength and energy necessary to accomplish this desirable end, at the earliest practicable moment.

Miscellaneous Items.

An infernal machine was last week set in the basement of the Cincinnati Type foundry, in Centre-street, for the purpose of killing Mr. Lee, the engineer. It proved to be a very ingeniously contrived apparatus, consisting of a piece of gas-pipe, seven-eighths of an inch in diameter, eight inches long, filled with explosive material, and welded with wrought-iron plugs at each end. Mr. Lee picked it up, when it exploded in his hand, injuring him severely.

A majority of the operatives of the Bartlett Mills, Newburyport, struck yesterday, in consequence of their wages having been reduced twenty per cent. The strike of the Naumkeag Mills, Salem, from a similar cause, has not yet been settled. The larger part of the mill owners in New-England will doubtless make a reduction of from ten to twenty per cent. when they decide to run their mills full time.

Mrs. SAM'L. FERGUSON, of Rocky Mount, Franklin County, Virginia, was murdered in bed by her husband, last week. She screamed, a brother of her husband came to the rescue, the murderer threw down his razor, ran out and returned with a hoe, with which he beat his wife's head to a jelly, while the brother stood by and did not raise a hand in rescue.

Among the lost on the Mississippi steamer Sultan was a family named Pogue, from Lewis County, Mo., who were on their way to Texas. The father, son, and daughter-in-law were drowned.

The Virginia Legislature has passed a bill, requiring the banks of the State to resume specie payments on the 1st of May. Another bill fixes the date of a uniform currency for April 1, 1859.

A Savannah pilot, Mr. Wm. H. Robbins, was was found murdered in the street in that city, on the 1st inst. The murderer is unknown. Mr. Robbins was engaged for the Floida.

Two children were killed in Albany on Monday, by drinking alcohol used for manufacturing purposes in an establishment in which they were permitted to play.

A fire at Williamsport, Penn., on Tuesday, consumed Higgins & Fulmer's stores and dwellings, and other property. Loss, $20,000.

A Normal School is about to be established in New-Orleans.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PILES, FISTULA AND CONSUMPTION.

From the Scalpel.

"No disease is more insidiously destructive to life than Piles. It is now universally admitted by all intelligent surgeons, that long continued bleeding causes the deposit of tubercles in the lungs, and that the only rational treatment of consumption is by highly nourishing diet, porter ale and exercise. After the long existence of piles, when the body has become enfeebled and consumption threatens, nourishing diet, stimulants and exercise become great aggravators of piles, the only alleviation for the sufferer being rest and the simplest diet! And yet patients are often advised to let the hemorrhoids alone, for fear the disease will attack the lungs."

The absurd fallacy has been ably refuted by that sagacious surgeon, Warren Stone, of New-Orleans, in a masterly article in the New-Orleans Journal of Medicine. The views of the editor of the Scalpel have been repeatedly set forth in that journal, and their practical truthfulness subjected to the test by more than two hundred patients in every part of the Union; many of these have been women exhausted by suffering and hemorrhage, and some in the first stage of Consumption.

The severest cases are susceptible of cure by the new process without the knife or ligature. Dr. Edward Dixon, author of Woman and Her Diseases, and a Practical Treatise on the More Obscure Diseases of the Sexual System, devotes his attention exclusively to office consultations and to operative surgery. Every case of Piles, or Prolapsus, or Fissure undertaken is warranted successful.

Office hours from 1 to 3, and 7 to 9 evenings, at Dr. D.'s residence, No. 42 5th-av. At all other hours he is at his private hospital, where every comfort of domestic life is provided for those who require surgical operations or prolonged dietetic treatment.

Dr. D. refers to

And a great number of patients in every part of the Union, all of whom have been permanently cured by this process during the past ten years.

MUSARD'S CONCERTS.

Lessee and Director..........B. Ullman
Admission to all parts..........50 cents
Reserved seats..........50 cents

MUSARD'S FIRST APPEARANCE,
MONDAY EVENING, April 12, at 8.
MUSARD'S MONSTER CONCERTS.
They will be continued every evening for one month.
THE SALE OF RESERVED SEATS
Commences this morning at all the three ticket offices.
MUSARD'S FIRST CONCERT ON MONDAY.
THALBERG, D'ANGRI,
LEGENDRE, MOREAU.
THE MONSTER ORCHESTRA

will be the
GRANDEST, COMPLETEST AND MOST COLLOSSAL
that has ever been brought before the American public. It will greatly exceed, both in numbers and quality, the orchestra of the New-York Philharmonic Society and of Jullien's concerts. It will comprise
ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY of the best professors of the city, including
MUSARD'S SOLO PLAYERS FROM PARIS.
Some idea of its extraordinary strength may be formed from the fact that it numbers not less than
SIXTY FIRST-RATE VIOLINS,
THIRTY CONTRA BASSES AND CELLOS,
NINE TROMBONES and TWENTY DRUMS, exclusive of the usual number of WIND AND BRASS INSTRUMENTS, such a mass of instruments being required to give due effect to MUSARD'S MONSTER QUADRILLES, as composed by him, and which have earned for him all over Europe the name of LE ROI DU QUADRILLE.
First night of the
MONSTER QUADRILLE.
The Zouaves on the Malakoff.
GRAND BATTLE QUADRILLE,
Descriptive of the storming of the Malakoff.
FIRING OF HEAVY ARTILLERY PIECES.
EXPLOSION OF THE MALAKOFF.
First night of the
COMIC CATTLE-SHOW QUADRILLE.
First night of the
EXPRESS GALLOP,
At which will be employed the extensive and new machinery, imported from Paris, descriptive of a railroad train.
THE PROGRAMME
Will contain full particulars of these extraordinary concerts.
THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC has been renovated—a costly carpet has been laid down in the lobbies and have been distributed over the corridors.
ONE HUNDRED SOFAS
On the first floor will be found a tastefully decorated
TEA AND COFFEE ROOM,
which will be under the superintendence of Mr. Moffat.
REFRESHMENTS MAY BE ORDERED, to be brought inside the house by TWENTY WAITERS IN LIVERY,
who will be stationed in the parquet and balconies.
THE STAGE WITH THE ORCHESTRA, will be decorated in the most tasteful manner.
A splendid and novel scene representing
AN OCTAGONAL CONCERT ROOM, WITH CLOSED CEILING,
Thus acting as a Sounding Board, having been expressly painted by
SIGNOR GUIDICINI.
It will be illuminated by
TWENTY-FIVE MONSTER CANDELABRAS AND NEW AND SPLENDID CHANDELIERS, expressly manufactured by Mr. Cornelius, of Philadelphia.
Altogether, Mr. Ullman pledges himself that THE MUSARD CONCERTS will form the
MOST COLOSSAL AND ARTISTIC ENTERTAINMENT
that has ever been introduced in America.
As the Director appeals in these concerts to all classes of the community,
THE PRICE OF ADMISSION has been fixed to all parts of the Academy at FIFTY CENTS.
Seats may be secured in advance, at 50 cents extra, at the office of the Academy of Music, at C. BREUSING'S, No. 701 Broadway, and SIBELL'S, No. 20 Wall-st., corner of Nassau.
THE SALE OF SEATS
will continue to-day, at 9 precisely.
THE FREE LIST INVARIABLY SUSPENDED.

BARNUM'S AMERICAN MUSEUM.

SATURDAY, APRIL 10, 1858.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

Will be published April 15,
LIFE THOUGHTS:
Gathered from the Extemporaneous Discourses of HENRY WARD BEECHER.
The Publishers take pleasure in calling attention to this book, believing that it fairly merits the epithet extraordinary.
A member of Mr. Beecher's Society, feeling impelled to catch and preserve some of the exquisite images, the truths crystallized into poetry, and the far-seeing, but genial wisdom, which otherwise would have had no memorial save in the hearts of the hearers—made copious notes of his sermons, and from them has selected the volume of extracts now presented to the public.
Whether it is regarded as a collection of literary gems, or as a series of striking thoughts on Christianity and its related themes, the book will not suffer by comparison with the most famous of similar compilations in the language.
The publishers believe that, sooner or later, these LIFE THOUGHTS will be found in the hands of every reflecting reader in the country. It is not a "sensation book;" but it has so much of power, and so much of beauty, that it will exert an influence which no generous, appreciative soul can resist.
In one volume 12mo., 300 pp. Price $1.
With a copious Analytical Index.
On receipt of the price, a copy will be mailed, pre-paid, to any address in the United States.
PHILLIPS, SAMPSON & CO., Publishers, Boston.

COME PASS ROUND THE WORD.
AIR—The Goblet of Friendship.

Come pass round the word, that old Solomon's wrong;
A "new thing" at last is found "under the sun"—
A Gift store, where jewels they give to the throng,
And retail books cheap—ain't it glorious fun?
"Not fun for the giver," of course you will say,
But here you're in error—he buys very low,
Three-fourths of his profit to you gives away,
Content the one-fourth in his pocket to stow.
If doubts of this story you still entertain,
At RANNEY'S, Broadway, number Two NINETY-THREE,
Step in and embellish your person and brain,
The books you must pay for, the jewels are free.

An elegant article of personal adornment or utility, accompanies each book sold at the Gift and Book House, No 293 Broadway. Catalogues of Gifts and Books sent free. Address RANNEY, Agent.

JUST PUBLISHED:
PIPES AT LUCKNOW.
A Descriptive Song of nine pages, composed by EDWARD WIEBE, words by J. G. WHITTIER, with beautiful vignette representing Miss Agnes Robertson in the character of Jessie Brown.
ALSO,
ELLA-ANNIE POLKA;
Composed by FR. KLEY and dedicated to the Hon. F. A. Tallmadge, with a finely executed likeness of the honorable gentleman on the title page. For sale at the Music stores generally.

THE REVIVAL PENNY MUSIC BOOK, just published by HORACE WATERS, No. 333 Broadway, contains 18 familiar melodies and hymns which for many years have stimulated the devotions of Christians in the social prayer-meetings. "Their special appropriateness to the times suggested to Mr. Waters the idea of their publication in a cheap form. The price is only one cent." [Christian Intelligencer.

REMOVAL OF THE TIMES OFFICE.

On or about the 1st of May the TIMES Establishment will be removed to the new TIMES BUILDING upon Park Row, Spruce-street and Nassau-street. We are now engaged in putting up new steam boilers and engines, and HOE'S Ten Cylinder Presses, in the vaults of the new building, and as soon as these are ready for use the removal will take place. When once established in our new quarters, we hope to introduce various additions and improvements in the management of THE TIMES, from which we have been precluded hitherto by lack of space and other needed facilities.

The business of THE TIMES is steadily and rapidly increasing. Our circulation is constantly extended, and our daily receipts for Advertising were never larger than they are at present. Our new Building has been constructed expressly for the accommodation of our business, and will permit of its extension to an unlimited extent. It is perfectly fire-proof, being built of stone, brick and iron from top to bottom, and is beyond question the finest Newspaper Establishment in the world. We shall do everything in our power to render THE TIMES itself fully worthy of its new habitation.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The Cunard steamship America, from Liverpool on the 27th ult., arrived at Halifax yesterday afternoon, bringing three days' later intelligence from Europe. Proceedings in the British Parliament, since last advices, have not been specially important. It was announced by Lord MALMESBURY, on the 25th, that the English Engineers, imprisoned in Naples, had been liberated. Mr. ROEBUCK introduced a bill for the abolition of the Irish Vice-Royalty, but no vote had been taken on the measure, except to negative a motion for the previous question. Mr. DISRAELI had obtained leave to bring in a bill to abolish the East India Company and Board of Control, and substitute a Council in their place. The appointment of Marshal PELISSIER, as Ambassador from France to England, gave satisfaction to the people of the latter country. The Paris journals also state that the Emperor could not have made a choice more significant or more flattering for the Queen and the English people. No later news is received from India by this arrival. The financial intelligence, it will be seen, is important. Consols have considerably improved.

The U. S. Senate was not in session yesterday, having adjourned over till Monday, on Thursday. In the House of Representatives, Mr. LOVEJOY, of Illinois, attempted, but without success, to introduce a resolution of inquiry respecting the number of Army Officers who are neglecting their duties by passing their time at Washington, and how many hold Civil offices. Mr. BRANCH, of North Carolina, spoke upon the reconsideration of the vote rejecting the Deficiency bill, and characterized the Army expenditures as monstrous. But he thought it too late to control the discretion of the President. Mr. J. GLANCY JONES said the War Department had indorsed the estimates. The vote by which the bill was rejected, was then reconsidered. A motion to recommit to the Committee of Ways and Means was lost, and then the bill passed, Ayes 111, Nays 97. A premature report having reached the Capitol of the death of the Hon. THOMAS H. BENTON, the House immediately adjourned till Monday.

In the State Senate yesterday, after a considerable amount of routine business, the bill to repeal the Metropolitan Police Law, being the special order, was discussed up to the hour of Executive Session. The substitute offered by Mr. DIVEN was rejected, and the bill was ordered to a third reading. It is understood that in Executive Session the names of Messrs. BOWEN and STRANAHAN, for Police Commissioners, were withdrawn by the Governor. Nothing of special importance was done during the day in the Assembly. During the Evening Session a vote was barely escaped on the bill providing for the tolling of railroads, through the announcement, premature, of course, of the death of Col. BENTON, in consequence of which an adjournment was carried.

By an arrival at St. Joseph, Mo., from Fort Kearney on the 30th ult., we have later news from Camp Scott. BRIGHAM YOUNG, it is reported, had notified Colonel JOHNSTON to leave the Territory of Utah by the 10th of March, otherwise his troops would be annihilated. In anticipation, probably, of his imperative command being implicitly obeyed, YOUNG had also tendered sufficient provisions to last the army to the States. In view of the fact, however, that a supply train of one hundred and sixty wagons, accompanied by several companies of troops, was only a short march from Camp Scott, there was very little likelihood of the magnanimous offer being accepted immediately.

In the United States Circuit Court yesterday, Mr. JAMES BOGARDUS recovered a verdict of $289 against the City for a violation of a patent issued to him for a peculiar mode of constructing iron buildings. The building in question was a bell-tower at Mount Morris, but we understand that the new buildings of Tompkins Market are in the same situation, and from their extent must make the City pay heavy damages.

The Charity Fête at the Crystal Palace ended early yesterday morning with a scene of unparalleled confusion. In consequence of the defective arrangements of the ladies' and gentlemen's dressing-rooms, the effort to recover the outer wrappings, confided by the visitors to the care of the attendants, resulted in a general mêlée. One gentleman, attempting to enter the ladies' room in search of his wife, was expelled from the building by the police, and the uproar occasioned by this incident, caused a tremendous panic among the ladies; some three hundred of whom finally retired after abandoning the hopeless effort to recover their goods. Profiting by the general confusion which prevailed, the pickpockets became very active, and at 3½ o'clock a stabbing affray took place; the hand of the assailant, however, being arrested in time to prevent more serious damage than the ruin of a coat and waistcoat by the point of the weapon. Many persons remained in the building until 6 o'clock yesterday morning, seeking the recovery of their property. The missing goods will be restored to their owners to-day.

The examination upon the charge preferred against CHARLES TURNER of abstracting public papers from a safe of the Street Commissioner's Office, was concluded yesterday morning before the Mayor. It was shown in evidence that the safe was a private one belonging to Mr. TURNER, and that the papers taken therefrom were assignments of contracts necessary for Mr. TURNER to produce as testimony in a case pending before the Marine Court. At the close of the testimony the Mayor dismissed the complaint, but reprimanded Mr. TURNER for the manner in which he took possession of the papers, in view of the excited state of public feeling regarding the Street Commissioner's Office. A request was made by the Mayor that he and two other citizens might examine the contents of the safe in question, but it was denied by Mr. TURNER upon advice of Counsel.

About noon yesterday a telegram was received at the Mayor's office from Albany, announcing that the Court of Appeals had rendered a decision in favor of Mr. DEVLIN as Street Commissioner. Subsequently, other dispatches were received from counsel on both sides, and also from Mr. CONOVER, confirming the information. The Mayor was immediately consulted by the Deputy-Commissioner under Mr. CONOVER, as to what action he should take in the premises, and he was advised to close the office until the proper order from the Supreme Court of this City should be received, announcing the decision of the Court of Appeals, and the action to be taken. Upon this advice the office was locked up. The news created considerable excitement among contractors and other loungers in and about the Park. Sergeant CROFTS sent four of his squad to watch the office to see that no violent demonstrations occured. Judge DAVIES made an order requiring the Mayor to show cause why he should not be restrained from interfering with the books and papers in the Street Commissioner's office.

A fire occurred at 3 o'clock yesterday morning in the frame stable under the blacksmith shop of GREEN & WILSON, corner of First-avenue and Fifteenth-street. It extended to a porter-house adjacent, and a young man, named ROBERT CASSIDY, who was sleeping in the place, was burned to death. Three horses were also burned to death. The total loss by the fire was $2,700, on which there was no insurance.

The General Markets, yesterday, were somewhat brisker and firmer for Cotton. Flour was heavy, and common brands declined a shade. Wheat was pretty freely purchased at buoyant prices. Prime Wheat was not abundant. Corn was plentier and cheaper, with a good inquiry. The movements in Provisions and groceries were moderate, indicating no very remarkable change in prices. Freights were depressed and rates favored shippers.

The Kansas Question.

The Washington Union says that if a Committee of Conference can be obtained, the Senate bill for the admission of Kansas will pass the House. That depends somewhat on the composition of the Committee. If the House, after their past experience of his unfairness and contempt of all justice and parliamentary law, trust Speaker ORR with the appointment of such a Committee, it will be very likely to result in the way which the Union predicts. Mr. ORR sinks the statesman and the public officer in the partisan, and is ready to sacrifice character and reputation, as well as the rights of the body over which he presides, to a party purpose. If the House trust to him the appointment of a Committee, they will deserve, what they will unquestionably get, betrayal and defeat. If they appoint their own Committee, as they have both the power and the right to do, they may secure respect for their principles and deference to their wishes.

Reports also reach us from Washington of a disposition on the part of the Senate, and even of the President, to accept the Crittenden amendment with a slight modification. As adopted by the House, it proposes to submit the Lecompton Constitution to the popular vote, and if proved to empower the President to admit the State by proclamation. It is said that the Senate majority will propose to omit this provision and to require the Constitution, if approved by the people, to come back to Congress for acceptance or rejection, in its discretion. If there is any truth in these reports, we may hope that the end of the Kansas imbroglio is near at hand. The Republicans can have no possible objection to such a change;—and in this form the bill will unquestionably conform more closely to usage, as well as to the letter and spirit of the Constitution.

If a Committee of Conference is appointed, therefore, we trust this course may be adopted as a compromise of conflicting opinions. Both parties will gain by it what they profess to desire. The Administration will get rid of the Kansas question, and the Opposition will secure the submission of the Lecompton Constitution to the popular vote. If the reports to which we have referred are true, we can see daylight.

THE REGISTRY LAW.—The Albany Evening Journal and the Albany Statesman, of Thursday, express the opinion that another vote will be had in the Assembly upon the bill to prevent illegal voting,—a reconsideration of the vote by which it was defeated having been moved, and the motion laid upon the table. It is believed by the Statesman that upon another vote, with a full house, the measure would prevail, as it understands that the three Republican members who were absent on Wednesday, would, if present, have voted for the bill.

The Registry bill in the Senate, which is the same in substance with the one in the Assembly, was earnestly debated during the entire afternoon session of Thursday. It was ordered to a third reading by a vote of 15 to 11, and it was agreed that the final vote should be taken this morning. All the Republicans voted for the bill and all the Democrats against it, except two of each party who paired off. We trust that the Registry bill may yet pass both Houses. It received a recommendation from Governor KING in each of his annual messages, and if successful in the Legislature, it will promptly obtain his official signature.

The Atlas and Argus condenses into the following paragraph the only formidable objections that have been urged against this measure:

> "The Constitution says that every male citizen twenty-one years old, &c., 'shall be entitled to vote.' The Senate bill says he shall not vote; and that 'no person shall be permitted to vote whose name is not on the Register.' Which shall prevail—the bill or the Constitution?"

This is plausible but untenable. The question arises whether the registry required is an additional qualification, or only one of those "modes of proof" which the Constitution not only permits, but enjoins, to establish the possession of those qualifications which it specifies. It seems to us clearly to fall within the latter category. The law now requires a certain oath to be administered, and excludes those who will not take it. It excludes all votes offered after, or before, specified hours on a certain day. The existing law requires a registry of votes to be made on the day of election, and excludes every man who refuses to be thus registered. Why may not the registry be required previous to the election, without any greater violation of the Constitution?

Turkish Justice.

The recent outrage upon American missionaries in Jaffa furnishes an admirable illustration of the value of Turkish reforms and the binding force of the Hatti Hamayoun which the Paris Conference presented to the world in 1856 as the crowning triumph of the Russian war. The real difficulty in the way of "Turkish regeneration" lies in the fact that there is no necessary connection whatever between the sayings and the doings of the Government. The edicts of most despotic monarchs possess a weight and importance from the fact that they are almost certain to be obeyed. The monarch himself may be a tyrant or a parricide—but he is necessarily a respectable personage, from the fact that he holds in his hand the whole force of the nation he rules, and that his will is law.

The Sultan forms, unhappily, an exception to the rule. No Prince in the world can command in theory an obedience more implicit and unreasoning, but in practice there is no Prince so powerless. European powers negotiate with him on the supposition that his promises or admissions are sure to affect the actual or future condition of the empire, and are at all times binding on his people. In all great questions of general policy they might as well, as far as practical results are concerned, negotiate with his steward or pipe-holder. The Turkish Government, as every one at all familiar with the country knows, is so paralyzed and so disorganized that the simplest order requires a special force for its execution. There is no general machinery for general purposes. The pasha in the province, or the madir in his village, obeys the behests of the central authority when a special messenger desires him to do a particular thing. A law whose execution is entrusted to all functionaries in general, is a dead letter. The Hatti hamayoun, and the Tanzimat, and all other reforms of the present Sultan's reign, are valuable as proving the desire of the Government that at the time these measures were promulgated, they might be carried into effect. The Christian world took it for granted they would be carried into effect, and was never more egregiously mistaken.

The want of all vital force in the administration is well exemplified by the proceedings taken to punish the assassins of the Dickson family at Jaffa. One would think if the grant of equal rights and immunities to Christians, and protection from Mussulman insolence, meant anything at all, its efficiency would be displayed with extra vigor upon an occasion of this sort, and that if the machinery of criminal justice could be got to work at all to redress the grievances of a giaour, it would work with extra vigor in behalf of the citizen of a powerful foreign State, and the victim of a shameful atrocity. The DICKSONS are Americans, with one of the strongest Governments in the world at their backs; the outrage upon them was high-handed and unprovoked, and yet what threatening, bullying intriguing and engineering it took to have their assailants even arrested. Mr. DE LEON, the Consul General at Alexandria, had to come expressly to Jaffa, to back up the remonstrances of Dr. GORHAM on the subject. The Pasha sent down a member of his "Cabinet" as special adviser to the Governor of Jaffa in this extraordinary emergency. The diplomatists being all assembled, a ceremonial visit was paid by the Turks, in which the subject of the murder was not even alluded to. Next day the town Medjlis, or Municipal Council, was called together for the fourth time to discuss the matter. The Consul-General presented himself, and in order to get the smallest attention paid to a word he said, and convince the civic dignitaries that he was at all in earnest, he had to open the proceedings by a flat insult, in refusing the customary offer of pipes and coffee. Stirring addresses followed, and the Medjlis broke up; but the end was not yet. The Consul-General had himself to collect and arrange the evidence, and hold another conference on the subject. Finally, in spite of the actual opposition of another emissary, sent down from Jerusalem to aid in arresting the criminals, four of them were arrested and lodged in prison, and have, doubtless, by this time undergone the penalty of their crime.

Now, if it takes this terrible display of diplomatic energy to bring the perpetrators of such a crime as this to justice, we leave our readers to imagine what amount of protection for life and limbs and honor is secured to a poor native Christian in the heart of Anatolia or Bulgaria, by either the Tanzimat or Hatti Hamayoun, or any other scheme of reform with which the Grand Medjlis at Constantinople may choose to wheedle European diplomatists.

THE RELIEF RAILROAD.—A correspondent of the Tribune writing from Albany, speaks of the passage of the bill authorizing a Railroad parallel to Broadway thus:

> "Such things destroy the respect of the community for the Government; and when we find men prominent in the Republican ranks equally prominent in promoting the passage of such a measure, it affords too good reason for honest men to doubt whether their professed zeal for Freedom is not worn as a cloak for sinister designs. J. B."

It is not very easy to see what "zeal for freedom" has to do with a Railroad down Mercer-street:—nor is it quite apparent how J. B. will make this a party issue. He opposes it because he thinks private persons, or "speculators" are interested in its passage. This may be a very good reason for him, but every Republican may not take the same view of the case. We are not aware that there is anything upon this subject in the Philadelphia platform, or that the Republican Party has anywhere made this railroad a test of party fealty.

J. B. must be perfectly aware that if this road, or any other public improvement, is ever constructed, it must be by private individuals; and the only thing which will induce them to do it is the hope of making it profitable. This is the way in which all the railroads in the City, the State, the Union and the world have been built hitherto, and it is not at all likely that the practice will be changed. The question which the Legislature has to consider is simply this: will the road be a benefit to the public? We have never yet found any one who denies or doubts that it will; and this fact alone should be quite sufficient to determine the action of the Legislature. Private rights are, of course, to be respected, and where marked and manifest damage would be done, compensation should be made. But private interests in this case would be almost as much benefited as the public.

The Street Commissioner.

The great Street Commissioner controversy, which kept the town in an uproar all last Summer, has at last been brought to a close by a judgment of the Court of Appeals confirming CHARLES DEVLIN, Mayor WOOD'S nominee, in the office, and ousting Mr. CONOVER, who was appointed by the Governor. We trust that by this time DEVLIN and his advisers have learned how vastly superior in every point of view, legal courses are to illegal ones. The contest about the office has now lasted very nearly a year, and the suit which has decided the title to it, not half that period. The first six months were passed by DEVLIN in desperate attempts to effect his object by the aid of bullies, shoulder-hitters, rioting, bloodshed and cross injunctions, setting the Courts at loggerheads and bringing their authority into contempt. It was only in the last extremity of chagrin, that he thought of adopting the only course which it should ever have occurred to him to adopt at all. The first thing he should have done after CONOVER'S appointment was to commence the action which terminated in his favor yesterday morning. Had he done so, he would probably have been duly installed as sole and undisputed incumbent of the office of Street Commissioner, in January last, and CONOVER would never have enjoyed the opportunity, of which he has since so largely availed himself, of exposing his rival's enormous and unscrupulous frauds and peculation.

We have now at last got a Street Commissioner, and it will naturally occur to most people to inquire what manner of man he is. We wish most sincerely we could give a better account of him, but there is no disguising the fact that he is the very last man in this great City, on whom the said office ought to be bestowed. His appointment was the last kick in the rear which FERNANDO WOOD inflicted upon that patient and long-suffering animal, the New-York public. No one act of His Honor's remarkable administration, except, perhaps, the proposal that the Common Council should peddle flour and potatoes, bore such unmistakable traces of contempt for the inhabitants of this City. We are not disposed to lift the veil which covers the arrangement, whatever its nature, between the protector and his protégé, by which the latter was made to step into the shoes of JOSEPH TAYLOR. Mr. DEVLIN'S business transactions with the City in the capacity of contractor unhappily afford ample data for judging what his business transactions will be in the capacity of Street Commissioner. The exposures which have been made during the last few weeks prove conclusively that nearly every contract with which he has had anything to do, has been tainted by fraud of the worst kind. The public at large and private individuals have alike been plundered. False entries, altered figures, illegal awards, false returns, false estimates and false surveys, are among the instruments which have been used in this business with profitable dexterity. It needs very little sagacity to infer that a contractor proved guilty of such acts is not likely to prove such a Street Commissioner as this City needs.

The Court of Appeals has decided that the Mayor has the appointment of this officer in case of a vacancy. We see nothing to regret in this decision, and we can scarcely doubt that Mayor TIEMANN will exercise the power which the new charter puts in his hands, and promptly remove Mr. DEVLIN from the office in which he has now been legally confirmed, and for which it is abundantly proved he is utterly unfit. The affairs of this most important and sadly degraded office can then be placed in honest hands. It has been a den of thieves quite long enough.

COL. THOMAS H. BENTON.—The Telegraph yesterday afternoon announced the death of Col. BENTON. The same announcement was made in the House of Representatives, and that body at once adjourned. The report, however, proved to be premature. At the latest advices last night, Col. BENTON was still alive, but in a very feeble condition, and it is quite certain that his end is near at hand. We avail ourselves of the occasion, therefore, to publish a condensed and very interesting sketch of his life and public services, from a forthcoming volume of the New American Cyclopædia, for which we are indebted to the courtesy of Mr. DANA, one of the editors of that valuable work. The sketch was written by an intimate and trusted friend of Col. BENTON, and has received his own revision. It cannot fail to be read with interest.

COMMERCIAL RIVALRY.—Very violent efforts are made in Philadelphia to purchase the Collins steamers, to be run between that city and Liverpool. A correspondent informs us that Newark is anxious to secure them to run as a ferry in connection with the line of stages to this City. It is uncertain which of the two will win.

Amusements.

MASON AND THOMAS MATINEE.—Messrs. MASON and THOMAS, assisted by Messrs. SCHARFENBURG and TIMMS, give one of their highly interesting and valuable Matinées to-day at the Spingler Institute, Union-square. The programme is the most attractive of the series.

WALLACK'S THEATRE.—Mr. JAMES STARK, a tragedian of careful and finished excellence, takes his first benefit here to-night. Mr. STARK has come among us at a time when the legitimate does not flourish, even when entrusted to able hands, perhaps because we have a little too much legitimate all at once. Certain it is that Mr. STARK merits a better recognition than he has received, and we hope there will be an audience to-night as encouraging in numbers as in applause. The "Stranger" and "Catherine and Petruchio" are announced.

CHRISTY & WOOD'S MINSTRELS.—An afternoon performance will be given to-day at 2½ o'clock. All the popular features of the programme are retained.

The Assault upon Secretary Thompson.

To the Editor of the Union:

A difficulty having occurred between the Hon. JACOB THOMPSON and myself, it is probable that rumors may be circulated not sustained by facts. I therefore ask the use of your columns to say that Mr. THOMPSON and myself have for years been on friendly terms—from the period I published a daily journal in Mississippi and Louisiana to the time of this occurence; that our meeting then was of a friendly nature; the affair unpremeditated, and the result of misunderstanding. Entertaining these views, no one can regret the difficulty more than myself.

It may be proper to say that I often visited the Department, and was only armed for self-defence, in anticipation of an attack from another quarter.

I trust that you will extend the courtesy asked to disabuse the public mind, if wrong impressions are disseminated. P. BESANCON.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, April 8, 1858.

FROM ALBANY.

Discussion of the Police Bill in the Senate—Mr. Spinola's Speech—The Governor and the Police Commissioner Nominations—Conover vs. Devlin.

From Our Own Correspondent.

ALBANY, Friday, April 9, 1858.

Both Houses are mostly absorbed in the consideration of the various bills which make up the Democratic financial policy. One is tired of hearing and tired of writing of loans and debts, and tolls, interest and principal, and stops, and go ons, and taxes, and the laws of trade. I am so crammed with such ideas, that my own affairs have got to partake very much of the character of the State policy.

We had a variation of the tune to-day, the Police bill being the special order in the Senate. Mr. SPINOLA had the floor, and occupied it to the intense interest of a large audience for more than an hour. His speech was not so much of an examination of the law as a review of the characters and qualifications of those who administered it, from the Commissioners down to the patrolmen.

It was the hour previous to the Executive Session. The names of Messrs STRANAHAN and BOWEN were to be acted on in Executive Session, and I suspect Senator SPINOLA spoke quite as much with reference to that fact, as he did with reference to the repeal of the Police law.

He stated many things in reference to the management of the Police in Brooklyn. Some of these facts were rather strange. Among other things he read an affidavit by a man named BRADSHAW, who swore that Mr. STRANAHAN had urged him to accept a position as policeman, assuring him at the same time that he would not be expected to perform any duties. He was to attend to his professional business—the practice of the law—the same as if he were not a policeman. He was to do no public duty but to draw his pay. Mr. BRADSHAW declined, but Mr. STRANAHAN continued to press him to accept. Mr. BRADSHAW is quite active as a politician, and it is avowed that his duty as a policeman would be to assist in furthering the political fortunes of Mr. STRANAHAN.

Mr. SPINOLA also furnished the following list of names as those of individuals who were drawing pay as Metropolitan policemen:

JOEL B. NOTT.
ROBERT COLLINS.
JUDGE LATHROP.
Ex-Senator PETTY.
CHARLES KELSEY.
D. C. HASBROUCK, a clerk in Mr. STRANAHAN'S office.
A brother of Commissioner CHOLWELL.
A brother-in-law of Commissioner CHOLWELL.
A brother of Commissioner NYE.
A brother-in-law of Commissioner NYE.
A. H. STOUTENBURGH.

He stated that there were in all from twenty-four to thirty of the gentleman, who were drawing pay as policemen, none of whose names appeared on the public records of the Department. How much duty they did, he would leave those to conjecture who are acquainted with the gentlemen named.

Senator SPINOLA was enlarging on this fruitful theme, when the hour for Executive Session arrived. He gave way for a closing of the doors.

In Executive Session, it is understood that ROBERT MURRAY was confirmed as a Harbor Master, in place of JUNIUS T. STAGG, removed.

It is also said that the Governor withdrew the nominations of Messrs. BOWEN and STRANAHAN, preferring to take back his nominations rather than run the risk of their being rejected, which result he seemed to anticipate from the damaging character of Senator SPINOLA'S speech.

All sorts of conjectures are prevalent as to the probable course of the Governor. Some think he will not send in any other names, but will leave Messrs. STRANAHAN and BOWEN to hold over. But this seems hardly possible. Neither Governor KING nor the withdrawn Commissioners can afford that. Nor do I believe the Governor would shirk responsibility in that way. He would not, to gratify any man or set of men, resort to a mere trick.

The case of CONOVER vs. DEVLIN was decided by the Court of Appeals this morning. The decision is against Mr. CONOVER. Seeing the end is what it is, it is well the finality has been so long delayed.

There are no signs of an early adjournment, though it may take place within the next three days. LEO.

NEW-YORK LEGISLATURE.

SENATE....ALBANY, Friday, April 9.

REPORTS.

Besides the usual number of local bills, the following of general interest were made:

To legalize the action of the New-York Board of Supervisors relative to E. TIMSON and others.

To amend the laws of the Superior and Common Pleas Courts in the City of New-York.

To require officers acting as Surrogates to give security.

For the benefit of married women and the insuring of the lives of their husbands.

To incorporate the New-York Interior Insurance Company.

To extend the charter of the Screw Dock Company of the City of New-York 15 years.

To allow the New-York Institution for the Blind to sell their property.

To amend the highway law in Kings and Queens counties.

The bill to repeal the Metropolitan Police law, was discussed up to the hour of Executive session in Committee of the Whole, when Mr. DIVEN'S substitute was rejected by Ayes 9, Nays 21. The bill was ordered to a third reading.

The Senate then went into Executive session.

The Governor withdrew to-day the names of Messrs. BOWEN and STRANAHAN as Police Commissioners.

Five P. M.—The Senate considered the bill to submit to the people the question as to whether there shall be a Convention to revise and amend the Constitution of the State.

Mr. WADSWORTH spoke against the bill, and Mr. STOW replied. The bill was then reported to the Senate; and the question being on agreeing with the House, it was laid on the table till Monday evening, when a final vote will be taken.

Half-past Seven, P. M.—The Grinding Committee reported various bills, including the following:

To continue the Commission relative to Common Schools in New-York City.

To amend the Charter of the Harmony Fire Insurance Company.

To legalize the sales of stocks on time.

To amend the charter of the New-York and Harlem Railroad Company.

To amend the law for the benefit of married women, insuring the lives of their husbands.

To incorporate the German literary association of Harmonia.

To regulate the use of wharves, piers, and slips, in the City of New-York.

The bill to prevent frauds in assessments for local improvements in the City of New-York, was stricken out of the report, on motion of Mr. MATHER.

A motion to strike out the Harlem Railroad bill, and recommit it to the Committee, was lost—Ayes 4, Nays 23.

The Senate then took up private claims.

ASSEMBLY....ALBANY, Friday, April 9.

The Assembly occupied the entire morning session debating bills of the Committee of Ways and Means.

Mr. HUTCHINSON spoke against the measures proposed and in favor of tolling the railroads and direct taxation.

Mr. ENGS desired a law imposing a tax for the Canal completion, to be levied in case that the loan should be defeated.

Mr. SHEPARD spoke against the proposed policy as anti-democratic.

Mr. WOLCOTT spoke in favor of tolling the railroads.

Mr. LANING advocated the bills of the Committee.

No vote was taken.

The debate was continued by Mr. BARNES in favor of, and Mr. HALL, in opposition, who made a motion to strike out the enacting clause. Lost.

The further action was interrupted by an adjournment.

The House met again at 3 P. M., in Committee of the Whole, Mr. BALDWIN in the chair.

The bill to repeal the act exempting the lands of the Sacketts Harbor and Saratoga Railroads from taxation was advocated by Messrs. COLLINS, HULL and HUTCHINSON, and opposed by Messrs. WAGER and OSGOOD, and ordered to a third reading.

The House then took up the bill imposing tolls on certain railroads in the State.

Mr. AUSTIN moved to exempt from the provisions of the bill the Rome and Watertown Railroad, on the ground that it was a feeder of the Erie Canal, and not a competitor.

Mr. MCNETT moved to amend the bill by adding to the railroads to be tolled the Hudson River, Harlem, New-York and New-Haven, Buffalo and New-York City, Long Island and Underground Railroads.

A long discussion followed on the merits of the bill. Messrs. ABBOTT, E. S. ESTY, BAKER, LAW, WOLCOTT and AUSTIN advocating the bill, and opposing the amendment as only designed to embarrass the bill.

Mr. BAKER asked if Mr. MCNETT would support the bill if it was amended as he desired.

Mr. MCNETT refused to reply.

Messrs. SHEPARD, MCNETT and DELANEY opposed the bill.

Mr. MCNETT'S amendment was lost.

Mr. RAYMOND moved to strike out the New-York and Erie Railroad, on the ground that the charter was built on the understanding that the road would be permitted to carry freight. It was thus in a position different to the Central Road, and the imposition of tolls would be an act of injustice.

Mr. BAKER asked the mover if he would accept as an amendment to exempt the Erie road as soon as it repaid the three millions to the State.

Mr. W. F. JONES spoke warmly in favor of exempting the Erie road.

Mr. CHANLER opposed the bill on general principles. New-York was a true friend of the canal and acknowledged her indebtedness to that work for her progress and prosperity. But the question was not simply to increase the canal revenues. No one would oppose doing so. There were other questions involved. He argued that the State should not toll railroads on considerations of justice and equity, and said that while prejudice was raised against railroad corporations as monopolies the truth was that the canal interests from Lake Erie to Albany were combined politically in a solid mass, and were more dangerous than railroads.

The Committee then rose.

In the House Mr. HALL moved to discharge the Committee and order the bill to a third reading.

Mr. MCKOWN called the previous question to cut off Mr. HALL'S amendment, but the House refused by a vote which indicated its intention to put the bill through direct.

Mr. MCNETT who had fought the bill steadily, took the floor with the intention of talking against time, but at 9 P. M. gave way for Mr. DURYEA, who said,

Mr. Speaker—I announce to the House, the death of Hon. THOMAS H. BENTON. It is due to the memory of the distinguished statesman, who occupied for so many years a position of the highest eminence, and who has exercised an influence over the course and destinies of the country, that the House should adjourn as a mark of recognition of his worth, and of respect to his many excellencies and great talents.

Mr. DAYTON then offered the following:

Whereas, The House has just heard with deep regret the intelligence of the death of the Hon. THOMAS HART BENTON—

Resolved, That as a testimony of respect to his memory the flag of the Capitol be hoisted at half-mast till the close of the session.

Resolved, That as a further token of respect the House now adjourn.

The House then adjourned till to-morrow, thus escaping the vote on the Toll bill.

CLOSING SCENES OF THE CHARITY FETE.

A Row—A Stabbing Affray—Three Hundred Ladies Go Home Without Their Cloaks—The Committee's Version.

Visitors who left the Crystal Palace before the small hours of Friday morning, were deprived of the opportunity of witnessing one of the remarkable demonstrations of the season. The proceedings, which were perfectly decorous and reputable up to 1 o'clock in the morning, changed, after that hour, into indecorum and riot. The reasons for this change were two-fold. The bar was too freely patronized, and the Managing Committees failed to provide the accommodations requisite for the immense crowd gathered within the building. It became apparent, very early in the evening, that the temporary dressing-rooms, hastily fitted up for the occasion, would prove insufficient for the accommodation of the throngs which poured into the house. The expectation was partly realized when the gentlemen of the incoming parties were found en queue in the Eastern gallery, to take their turns in the deposit of hats and wrappers. The ladies' dressing-room was the old refreshment quarter on the ground-floor. When the crowd began to thin, the rush to the door of this room was terrible. The gentlemen succeeded in securing their property by leaping the barrier in the gallery, and selecting for themselves in the absence of attendants. Meanwhile, the ladies essayed to recover their wrappings from the cloak-room; but there also all order was lost. The shelves had broken down under the accumulated weight, and an immense heap of dry goods covered the floor. Tickets were lost in this confusion, and some hundreds of ladies left the building with no other protection against the night air than the overcoats of their attendants, which were freely offered. The restriction against the entrance of gentlemen into the ladies' room, produced the first serious difficulty of the night. The first offender was a stout individual, who persisted in breaking the line, and was instantly throttled in a needlessly summary manner by an equally stout policeman. Both parties showed fight; the mêlée became general; voices were raised high in altercation; and in the midst of the confusion, the wife of the pummeled gentleman rushed frantically out of the room, screaming loudly, and demanding to be taken off with her husband. That gentleman, however, was by this time safely bestowed outside the Palace; while a gallant gentleman, who had himself lost sight of two ladies in his care, clasped the deserted lady around the waist and stilled her struggles. The noise and turmoil which this scene created produced a tremendous effect among the three hundred ladies who were closely packed inside the dressing-room. Several fainted outright, and were carried into the fresh air. Others wept unrestrainedly, and others still screamed lustily for their protectors. While this was going on (now 3 o'clock in the morning) the pickpockets embraced the opportunity to ply their vocation, and one or two, caught in the act, were arrested; the crowd that gathered about each victim adding to the confusion. At 3½ o'clock, a stabbing affray took place, diversifying the entertainment. A quarrel between two men, disguised in liquor, ended in one of them (a Scotchman) drawing a dirk upon his antagonist. Luckily, his hand was arrested before other damage had been done than the slitting of a broadcloth coat and the serious defacement of a waistcoat by the point of the weapon. A policeman who stood by contented himself with separating the combatants, but refrained from arresting the assailant until compelled to do so by the sharp remonstrance of a by-stander. The fellow was then taken in charge. The number of this policeman has been handed to us. The scene of confusion grew more complicated, until the dancing ended and the musicians retired.

WHAT THE COMMITTEE SAY.

Upon inquiry at the Committee's office, corner of Broadway and Prince streets, our reporter found Governor C. GODFREY GUNTHER up to his eyes in business assorting the articles unclaimed at the Crystal Palace after the Fête. There were huge piles of loose garments lying about, and a number of large boxes also containing clothing of every description. Three hundred persons, mostly ladies, probably went home minus their shawls, furs, hoods, and other outer garments. Carpenters had been called in to construct shelves on which the goods could be classified so as to be identified and claimed by the rightful owners. Only a small portion of the parcels were without the tickets placed upon them, so that to-day they will mostly be reclaimed. Those who have tickets are requested to send the numbers they bear to the office, with a description of the articles, together with their residence, and they will be sent to them. Several Express waggons are engaged for this purpose.

The whole fault of the disorder, the Committee say, is chargeable to a dozen brutal fellows, who rushed into the ladies' dressing-room for the purpose of making confusion, clutching here and there for parcels which they claimed, in total disregard of the rules. The woman in charge was bewildered, and at last fainted, and the clambering upon the boxes of a large crowd eager to secure what did, or did not belong to them, broke down the shelves, turning the whole into chaos. The woman aforesaid is likely to become a confirmed maniac from the effects of the excitement. Many did not leave the palace until after 4 o'clock in the morning. The articles consist of overcoats, shawls, cloaks, hoods, rigolettes, veils, head-gear, bonnets, (frequently with Bowery-looking caps stuffed inside to save the double-ticket fee,) baskets, reticules, and last, but not least, boxes of whiting and rouge, with bits of old stockings for putting it on. There was a pile of very indifferent furs, not worth five dollars for the lot. Most of the Committee are sick from their exertions. Governor GUNTHER has not had a wink of sleep, and says he does not intend to have, until everything is set right. He expresses great regret at this unpleasant winding-up of the Fête. Financially, however the soirée was a success, realizing not less than $8,000.

The Crystal Palace.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

SIR: Would it not be a subject worthy of the consideration of the Hunter Woodis Benevolent Society to have the Crystal Palace opened every evening for the admission of visitors for at least one week, that the gorgeous decorations and brilliant illumination may be witnessed by thousands who would undoubtedly pay the price of admission if the chance was offered them? W.

CENTRAL PARK ORDINANCES.—On Wednesday, before Justice BROWNELL, Fourth District Police Court, F. Greenbaum was sentenced to pay a fine of five dollars, and was committed, in default, to the Tombs for one week, for carrying fire-arms in the Central Park.

KANSAS AFFAIRS.

Action of the Constitutional Convention—Bill of Rights and Schedule.

MELODEON HALL, LEAVENWORTH, K. T., Tuesday, March 30, 1858.

The Solons of Kansas are now in Convention at this place for the purpose of framing a Constitution for the people of Kansas, under a law of the late Territorial Legislature. As already reported, this Convention adjourned last week from Minneola to this place, where they have been making commendable progress to the present time. A majority of the standing committees have reported, and an abundance of material is now upon the docket for a complete Constitution, and it is being handled and hewn and polished with a master skill that is indeed creditable to the sagacity and statesmanship of the men of Kansas. By pursuing the work as now begun, it is evident that in two days more the instrument will be perfected and signed, providing fully for all the machinery of government. The Topeka Constitution has been taken as a basis in every department by the committees thus far. More than four-fifths of all that the new Constitution will contain can be found verbatim in the Topeka Constitution.

Among the reports acted upon this afternoon, was an ordinance concerning the public lands, which was passed with great unanimity, after ample debate, after which the following report was also passed.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON AMENDMENTS TO CONSTITUTION.

SECTION 1. Propositions for the amendment of this Constitution may be made by either branch of the General assembly; and if three-fifths of all the members elected to each House shall concur therein, such proposed amendments shall be entered on the journals, with the yeas and nays. And the Secretary of State shall cause the same to be published in at least one newspaper in each county of the State where a newspaper is published, for three months preceding the next election for Senators and Representatives, at which time the same shall be submitted to the electors for their approval or rejection; and if a majority of all the electors voting at such election shall approve such amendments the same shall become a part of the Constitution. When more than one amendment shall be so submitted at the same time, they shall be so submitted as to enable the electors to vote on each amendment separately.

SEC. 2. Whenever three-fifths of the members elected to each branch of the General Assembly shall think it necessary to call a Convention to revise, amend or change this Constitution, they shall recommend to the electors to vote at the next election of members of the General Assembly, for or against a Convention; and if a majority of all the electors voting at said election, shall have voted for a Convention, the General Assembly shall, at the next session, provide by law for calling the same. The Convention shall consist of as many members as the House of Representatives, and shall be chosen in the same manner, and shall meet within three months after their election, at the Capitol of the State, for the purpose aforesaid.

SEC. 3. At the general election to be held in the year 1863, and in each tenth year thereafter, the question, "Shall there be a Convention to revise, alter or amend the Constitution?" shall be submitted to the electors of the State; and in case a majority of the electors voting at such election shall decide in favor of a Convention, the General Assembly at its next session, shall provide by law for the election of Delegates, and the assembling of such convention, as provided in the preceding section; but no amendment or provision of this Constitution agreed upon by any Convention in pursuance of this article, shall take effect until the same shall have been submitted to the electors of the State, and adopted by a majority of those voting thereon.

The bill of rights was next reported, drawing as before, largely from the Topeka Constitution, but it was finally adopted as follows:

ARTICLE I—BILL OF RIGHTS.

SECTION 1. All men are by nature free and independent, and have certain inalienable rights, among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing and protecting property, and seeking and obtaining happiness and safety, and the right of all men to the control of their persons, exists prior to all law, and is inalienable.

SEC. 2. All political power is inherent in the People. Government is instituted for their equal protection and benefit; and they have the right to alter, reform or abolish the same whenever they may deem it necessary; and no special privileges or immunities shall ever be granted that may not be altered, revoked, or repealed by the General Assembly.

SEC. 3. The people have the right to assemble together, in a peaceable manner, to consult, for their common good, to instruct their representatives, and to petition the General Assembly for the redress of grievances.

SEC. 4. The people have the right to bear arms for their defence and security, but standing armies in time of peace are dangerous to liberty, and shall not be kept up; and the military shall be kept in strict subordination to the civil power.

SEC. 5. The right of trial by Jury shall be inviolate and shall extend to persons in all conditions.

SEC. 6. There shall be no Slavery in this State, and no involuntary servitude, unless for the punishment of crime, whereof the person or persons shall have been convicted by due process of law.

SEC. 7. All men have a natural and indefeasible right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own conscience. No person shall be compelled to attend, erect or support any form of worship, or maintain any form of worship against his consent; and no preference shall be given by law to any religious society; nor shall any interference with the rights of conscience be permitted. No religious test shall be required as a qualification for office, nor shall any person be incompetent to be a witness on account of his religious belief; but nothing herein shall be construed to dispense with oath and affirmations. Religion, morality and knowledge, however, being essential to good Government, it shall be the duty of the General Assembly to pass suitable laws to protect every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of public worship, and to encourage schools and the means of instruction.

SEC. 8. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety require it.

SEC. 9. All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, unless for capital offences where the proof is evident, or the presumption great. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishment inflicted.

SEC. 10. Except in cases of impeachment, and cases arising in the army and navy, or in the militia, when in actual service, in times of war or public danger, and in cases of petit larceny and other inferior offences, no person shall be held to answer for a capital or otherwise infamous crime, unless on presentment or indictment of a grand jury. In any trial, in any court, the party accused shall be allowed to appear and defend in person, and with counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, to meet the accusers face to face, and to have compulsory process to procure the attendance of witnesses in his behalf, and a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district in which the offence is alleged to have been committed; nor shall any person be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, or be twice put in jeopardy for the same offence.

SEC. 11. Every citizen may freely speak, write, and publish his sentiments, on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of the right; and no law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech or of the press. In all criminal prosecutions or indictments for libel, the truth may be given in evidence to the jury, and if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true, and was published with good motives, and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted.

SEC. 12. No person shall be transported out of the State, for any offence committed within the same, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

SEC. 13. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, except in a manner prescribed by law.

SEC. 14. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and possessions, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons and things to be seized.

SEC. 15. No person shall be imprisoned for debt in any civil action, or mesne or final process, unless in case of fraud.

SEC. 16. All courts shall be open; and every person for an injury done him in his land, goods, person or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and justice administered without denial or delay.

SEC. 17. No hereditary emoluments, honors or privileges shall ever be granted or conferred by this State.

SEC. 18. No power of suspending laws shall ever be exercised, except by the General Assembly.

SEC. 19. The payment of a tax shall not be a qualification for exercising the right of suffrage.

SEC. 20. Private property shall ever be held inviolate, but subservient to the public welfare. When taken in time of war, or other public exigency imperatively requiring its immediate seizure, or for the purpose of making or repairing roads, which shall be open to the public use, without toll or other charge therefor, a compensation shall be made to the owner in money; and in all other cases where private property shall be taken for public use, a compensation therefor shall first be made in money, first secured by a deposit of money, and such compensation shall be assessed by a jury, without deduction for benefits to any property of the owner.

SEC. 21. No indenture of any negro, or mulatto made and executed out of the bounds of the State shall be valid within the State.

SEC. 22. This enumeration of rights shall not be construed to impair or deny others retained by the people; (and all powers not herein delegated shall remain with the people.

A report was made by the Committee upon "The Legislature" and the Convention was engaged in its consideration through the evening session until 2 o'clock in the morning. There were no material changes from the Topeka prototype, and the article contains twenty-two sections as finally agreed upon.

The Committee on Schedule then reported, and their report was made the special order for 8 o'clock A. M., to-morrow, when they adjourned.

LEAVENWORTH, Wednesday, March 31, 1858.

This morning the Report of the Committee on Schedule came up in its order. An able discussion followed upon the first section, as to how far they therein recognized the validity of the Missouri-elected Legislature. The general tone of the argument was what a gentleman called "Radical Conservatism." The preponderance of sentiment is largely of the liberal, progressive type, and Hunkerism received merciless kicks from every quarter.

The Schedule, at the hour of my reporting, is not disposed of, but it will probably pass nearly as follows:

SCHEDULE.

SECTION 1. In order that no inconvenience may arise from the change from a Territorial to a State Government, it is declared that no existing rights, suits, prosecutions, claims or contracts shall be affected by a change in the form of government.

SEC. 3. And all county, city and township officers shall continue to hold their respective offices, unless removed by competent authority, until the Legislature, in conformity to the provisions of this Constitution, provide for the holding of elections to fill such offices respectively.

SEC. 2. This Constitution shall be submitted to a vote of the people for approval or rejection, on the third Tuesday of May, 1858. The vote should be by ballot, and those in favor of the Constitution shall write or print upon their ballots the words, "For Constitution," and those opposed to the Constitution shall write or print upon their ballots the words, "Against Constitution." Said election shall be conducted according to the provisions of section 13 of an Act of the Legislative Assembly of the Territory of Kansas, passed Feb. —, 1858, entitled "An Act to provide for the election of delegates to a Convention to frame a State Constitution."

SEC. 3. At the same time and place, and under the provisions of the section aforesaid, of the act aforesaid, an election shall be held for members of the General Assembly, for State officers, for Judges, and for a member of Congress to represent the State of Kansas in the Thirty-fifth Congress of the United States.

SEC. 4. If this Constitution, upon being submitted to the people, shall be approved by a majority of the legal votes cast for and against it, a copy of the same certified by the President and Secretary of the Convention, together with a memorial framed by the Convention, asking admission into the Union, and a certified statement of the vote on the ratification thereof, shall be transmitted as soon as practicable by, the Governor, President of the Council and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Territory of Kansas, or any two of them, to the President and Congress of the United States.

SEC. 7. Provided this Constitution shall be ratified by the people, then, upon the admission of Kansas into the Union as a State, the Constitution shall be in full force, the State officers shall immediately enter upon the performance of their duties, and the Governor shall immediately, by proclamation, convene the General Assembly. And if Kansas shall have been admitted previous to said ratification, then shall this Constitution be in force immediately upon said ratification.

SEC. 8. The members of first General Assembly shall hold their offices until and including.

SEC. 9. The State officers and Supreme and District Judges, first elected under the Constitution, shall hold their respective offices for the same length of time as though their term of office commenced on——.

SEC. 10. The seal of the Territory of Kansas shall, until otherwise ordered, be the seal of the State of Kansas.

SEC. 11. Until otherwise provided by law, the Senators and Representatives shall be appointed as follows:

SEC. 12. At the vote upon the ratification or rejection of this Constitution, the qualified voters shall also vote upon the question of the location of the seat of Government, in the following manner, to wit: Each qualified elector may write or print upon his ballot the name of the place which he desires to be the capital; and those who desire the State to purchase a site for the capital shall write or print upon their ballots the words "for a purchased site." If any place shall have received a majority of all the votes cast on the question of locating the State Government, then that place shall be the capital; but if a majority of all the votes cast on the question aforesaid shall be "for a purchased site," then, at the next general election for members of the General Assembly, five Commissioners shall be chosen, who shall contract for purchasing a site for the capital, and the question whether the people shall ratify that contract shall be submitted to the qualified voters at the next general election of members of the General Assembly; those favoring the ratification voting "yes," and those opposed, "no." And if that contract shall be ratified by a majority of all the votes cast upon that question, then, the site so contracted for shall be the seat of government. But, if that contract shall not be thus ratified by the people, then the General Assembly shall, at its next session, by law, locate the capital. In case, at the election upon the ratification or rejection of this Constitution, neither any place nor a purchased site shall receive a majority of all the votes cast, then the General Assembly shall provide, by law, for the resubmission of the question of the location of the capital to a vote of the people at the next general election for members of the General Assembly.

A discussion of several hours was had upon the seventh section, in which various soundings were taken, to ascertain where we should be, if the Lecompton Constitution should be accepted by Congress. With two or three exceptions, the speakers were in favor of repudiating and defying the attempts to force a Government upon us not our own, and all agreed that the people of Kansas would willingly rally under the Constitution now being formed.

RANDOLPH.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

ST. LOUIS, Friday, April 9.

The Leavenworth correspondent of the Democrat says that the policy recommended in the address to the public, framed by one the Convention Committees is, that they should give to the Leavenworth Constitution a hearty ratification, and refuse to accept any organic law derived from the Lecompton Constitution and the Government. The address does not recognize a possibility of the Lecompton Constitution becoming the fundamental law, even though Congress receive it, as it is without the sanction of the people, and will be null and void.

It is distinctly understood, says the same correspondent, that the Convention would not tolerate the policy of any Free-State men qualifying themselves under the Lecompton bill of rights, and that it declared the right of all men to control their own persons to be prior to the law and inalienable.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE BOOK TRADE!

A WOMAN'S THOUGHTS ABOUT WOMEN.
The last and best work by the author of "John Halifax, Gentleman."
RUDD & CARLETON
Will publish on Saturday, April 17,
From the early London sheets, (by special arrangement,)
AN ENTIRELY NEW WORK,
By the author of
"John Halifax, Gentleman," "Agatha's Husband," "The Ogilvies," "Olive," &c.
A WOMAN'S THOUGHTS ABOUT WOMEN.
12mo. Elegantly bound in cloth. Price $1.

CONTENTS.

Something to Do.	Gossip.
Self-Dependence.	Women of the World.
Female Professions.	Happy and Unhappy Women.
Female Handicrafts.	Lost Women.
Female Servants.	Women Growing Old.
Mistress of a Family.
Female Friendships.

From the London Athenæum.

They are thoughts we would wish every woman would think.

From the London Literary Gazette.

A very useful book, written in that clear, straightforward, unhesitating style, which is characteristic of a clever woman's writing.

From the London Post.

This excellent volume is characterized by good sense, good taste and feeling and is written in an earnest, philanthropic, as well as practical spirit.

From the London Examiner.

A book of sound counsel—well written, true hearted, and altogether practical. Whoever wishes to give valuable advice to a young lady may thank the author of "Woman's Thoughts" for means of doing so.

This volume, of which a reprint is now presented to the public, is one of the most admirable productions that has recently been issued from the London press. It is marked by naturalness and purity of sentiment, beauty and force of expression, and an elevated moral tone. No work can be more highly recommended for the family library, while its brilliancy and vivacity will make it welcome to every reader of cultivated taste.

TO BOOKSELLERS.

A previous announcement of this last and best work by the authoress of "John Halifax," together with the remarkable popularity of her books, has already caused a large demand for the above work, and our first edition being inadequate to supply orders already received, we have been compelled to defer the publication day from this week Saturday to next week, when we shall positively issue the book.

Booksellers should order from the publishers directly, so as to get first lots, and, if in quantities, at an extra discount.

This book will be sent by mail, postage paid, to any part of the United States, on receipt of the price—$1.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM.

MEDICAL WONDER.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM IS THE MOST certain remedy for all diseases arising from gross Impurities of the Blood, &c., &c.

SCROFULA, KING'S EVIL, CANCER, FEVER SORES, OLD ULCERS, &c.

RHEUMATISM, WHETHER INFLAMMATORY, Mercurial, or Chronic, is sure to yield to this powerful yet mild and safe medicine.

NEURALGIA OF THE MOST PAINFUL kind, also GOUT, PARALYSIS, and ERYSIPELAS are most certainly cured by this LIFE BALSAM.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM WILL EFFECTUALLY cure FISTULA, PILES, KIDNEY and LIVER COMPLAINTS, and desperate cases of DYSPEPSIA and CONSTIPATION OF THE BOWELS.

SALT RHEUM OF THE MOST TORTURING nature is invariably cured by it if taken according to the directions.

PIMPLES AND BLOTCHES ON THE face, also yellowness of the Skin when caused by a disordered system, yield to the all-powerful influence of this great conqueror of disease. It is also certain in SCALY ERUPTIONS OF THE FACE, HANDS AND BODY.

MERCURIAL DISEASES, NODES, SWELLINGS OF THE JOINTS AND LIMBS, even where they are distorted and drawn out of place, and have existed for years, have been perfectly cured and restored to their natural state in hundreds of cases, where everything else had failed.

FEMALE COMPLAINTS.—IN ALL THOSE afflicting complaints incident to women, young or old, THE LIFE BALSAM has proven the greatest blessing yet known.

HYATT'S LIFE AND PULMONIC BALSAM has cured some of the (apparently) most hopeless cases of ASTHMA and INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, such as PAIN in the BREAST and SIDE, COUGH, SPITTING and RAISING BLOOD, NIGHT SWEATS, DEBILITY and extreme prostration. Also, DROPSY, FLATULENCY, and similar diseases.

THE LIFE BALSAM IS THE BEST known remedy for Syphilis or Secret Diseases, Primary or Secondary and in INCOMPETENCY, whether arising from early indiscretions, abuse, or other causes, it is the sufferer's surest friend.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED MRS. C. GORE, No 542 6th av., of SCROFULA or KING'S EVIL. The Ulcers had destroyed the flesh from the neck until the windpipe was exposed. It cured Mrs. Gore also of Dyspepsia.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED MR. B. RICE, Nos. 32 Grove-st. and 21 Clinton Market, of INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM and GOUT, after he had been crippled for years.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED MRS. BURTON, No. 31 King st., of SCROFULA of the Neck, Head and Arms. The Ulcers had destroyed the flesh to the bones, pieces of which were discharged.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED WM. J. BROWN, late of No. 97 Prince-st., of FISTULA, after he had submitted to various operations, and confined him to his room for weeks.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED WILLET JARVIS, Esq., No. 277 Hicks-st., Brooklyn, of deep and terrible ULCERS on the leg, after his physicians had decided that amputation was necessary to save his life.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED EX-Alderman J. KELLY, XIIIth Ward, E. D., Brooklyn, of Rheumatism, after he had been under medical treatment in vain, and crippled for months.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED WM. McLAREN, whose store is No. 28 Reade-st., of an ULCER covering the entire leg, from knee to instep, the flesh rotting to the bone.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED MISS BOWERS, corner of 131st st and 4th av., of a terrible case of SALT RHEUM, ERYSIPELAS and PIMPLES, which had entirely destroyed her hair, and so disfigured her she could not appear in public for years. She has not a scar left, and her hair is completely restored.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED H. F. GARDNER of CANCER, as shown and sworn to before his Honor Mayor Westervelt, after the cancer had destroyed his nose.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED JAMES McKEE, whose office is No. 42 Front-st., of CHRONIC DYSPEPSIA of the most torturing kind.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED J. McCARTHY, late of No. 65 Avenue D, of DYSPEPSIA, LIVER and KIDNEY COMPLAINTS, &c., after he had been reduced to the lowest extremity, and thought by all to be incurable.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED MR. JACOBS, No. 5 Market-st., of several large, malignant ULCERS, which nothing else could reach.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED MR. E. B. HOLLY, Dock Master, No. 17 Madison-st., of a terrific ULCER, after he had been in the Broadway Hospital six months, and then thought to be incurable.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED ALEX. DEARBORN, No. 95 3d-av., of severe Inflammatory Rheumatism, Cough, Pain in the Breast and Side, after he had been a hopeless sufferer for more than a year.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED E. J. WEBB, Esq., the architect, No. 304 Broadway, of Rheumatism of eight months' duration, which had crippled and confined him to his room. Mr. Webb was 70 years old when this was effected.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED NAPOLEON F. FRENERE, No. 263 Avenue A, of a terrible case of Ozena, which had assumed the nature of Cancer, and resisted all attempts to cure it.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED CHAS. CLARK, merchant tailor of Lansingburg, N. Y., of Scrofulous Ulcers, (and Rheumatism) which had penetrated to the bone, and refused to yield until the Life Balsam came to his aid.

HYATT'S LIFE AND PULMONIC BALSAMS CURED JOS. H. GOODWIN, (whose office is at No. 14 Elizabeth-st.,) of Consumption, Cough, Pain in the Side and Breast, Spitting of Blood, Night Sweats, after he had been years afflicted, reduced to the last stage of weakness, and pronounced past recovery by physicians.

HYATT'S PULMONIC LIFE BALSAM cured J. B. DAVIDSON, (the celebrated and well-known fire proof safe-maker, of Albany,) of CONSUMPTION, after the ablest physicians of the State and this City had examined and pronounced his lungs nearly destroyed, and his death inevitable.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED WM. HOUSEL, No. 12 Willett st., of KING'S EVIL. The Ulcer covered the entire left side of the neck and face.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM CURED MISS COLE, No 168 3d-av., of ASTHMA of the most painful and dangerous kind. She has been afflicted from infancy, and the spasms so severe as to force the sternum or breast bone out of place.

HYATT'S LIFE BALSAM HAS CURED 10,000 cases of similar diseases, and it will most certainly cure any case which can be reached by medicine, if taken in accordance with the directions.

IT DOES NOT CONTAIN A PARTICLE OF mercury, or any other deleterious mineral. It can be taken with perfect safety by the most delicate woman or infant.

IT IS THE GREAT CURATIVE BLESSING OF THE AGE.

L. W. LEEDS'
HOT-WATER FURNACE.
The first entirely successful and thoroughly practical application of the elegant, healthful and economical system of heating through the medium of hot water.

WE HAVE THOROUGHLY TESTED THESE HEATERS in various situations, and find them entirely efficient in the coldest weather. They are very durable, have few water joints, DO NOT LEAK, NEED NO REPAIRS, ARE EASILY MANAGED, DO NOT SHRINK OR INJURE THE FURNITURE AND WOOD-WORK OF THE BUILDING, AND CAN NEVER SET THEM ON FIRE, and possess many advantages over long circuitous coils of steam-pipes or radiators.

They may be seen in operation at our warerooms. ESTIMATES AND PLANS for warming and ventilating, either by hot water, steam or warm air, made out at short notice. GEO. L. CANNON, No. 406 Broadway.

WIRE-WORKERS WILL SAVE AT LEAST 25 per cent. by having their wire or finished work tinned at the NEW-YORK PATENT TINNING WORKS, No. 389 1st-av.

AUCTION SALES.

BY S. DRAPER.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28,
At 1 o'clock, at No. 497 Broadway

Sale at auction of a valuable collection of paintings by the old masters, embracing the works of Murillo, Titian, Carlo Dolci, Carracchi, Vandyke, Rubens and others, together with a large and valuable collection of engravings, being the collection now on exhibition at the gallery of the Art Union, No. 497 Broadway. These pictures, known as the Nye Gallery, were purchased in Europe some years since and were intended as the nucleus of a more extensive gallery. The sale will take place on WEDNESDAY, April 28, at 1 o'clock, at the gallery No. 497 Broadway. Catalogues will be found at the office of the auctioneer. Free tickets on application at the office of the auctioneer. As an evidence of the merit of the entire collection, reference is made to the following certificate of many of our most distinguished artists:

Recognizing the importance of the permanent establishment of a Public Gallery of the works of the Great Masters of Painting and Sculpture in this City, and considering Mr. Nye's collection, now at the Lyceum Gallery, in Broadway, worthy to form the nucleus of such a Gallery, we hereby cordially express a hope that his endeavors to place his collection permanently with us, may meet with the coöperation of our fellow-citizens.

MEDICAL.

THE TALENT OF THE MOST EMINENT EUROPEAN ARTISTS

Is employed in illustrating the new edition of that practical Medical Work,

HUMAN FRAILTY;
OR, PHYSIOLOGICAL RESEARCHES,
JUST ISSUED FROM THE PRESS.

It describes the causes and effects of all diseases of a delicate nature; it contains copious instructions for the perfect restoration of those who are prevented by impediments from entering into the married state, and for the permanent cure of all diseases arising from imprudences, with observations on the direful results of early abuse; also a professional dissertation, illustrating the results of chemical tests, and examination of the spermatoza, by the patentee's newly-constructed microscope, with powerful lenses.

Price 25 cents. Sent free of postage to any part of the country.

This invaluable work may be obtained, as well as the Triesemar, from Dr. BARROW, No 157 Prince-st., few blocks west of Broadway, New-York. To be consulted as usual, from 11 A. M. till 2 P. M., and from 4 till 8 in the evening.

SANDS' SARSAPARILLA,

For purifying the Blood. This is a purely vegetable extract. It contains no powerful drastic drug to debilitate the system, or mineral poison to ruin the constitution. Thousands have been cured by it, and tens of thousands may be restored to health by its use. Beware of spurious imitations, which bear the same relation to it as the counterfeit does to the genuine dollar. Prepared and sold by A. B. & D. SANDS, No. 100 Fulton-st., New-York.

DR. MAGNIN'S LUCINA CORDIAL, OR ELIXIR OF LOVE.—From the earliest ages stimulants have been resorted to as a means of reviving the energies of Nature. Of this fact, both sacred and profane history assure us. But the great difficulty has been to find an exhilarant which would produce the desired effect continuously, and entail no subsequent depression. This grand desideratum, sought for by every physician from the time of Galen to the present day, is accomplished at last! The LUCINA CORDIAL restores and permanently invigorates the broken-down system; nay, more, it replaces natural weakness with energy and strength. The desponding it revives the feeble it endows with vigor; and the cheerfulness and strength which it restores or creates, it also preserves. To the sickly wife it imparts that degree of vital force necessary to the crowning joy and great object of matrimony. To the debilitated husband it gives the nervous and muscular energy which characterizes manhood. In all cases of nervous diseases, low spirits, indigestion, liver complaint, indisposition to mental exertion, lassitude, emaciation, impotence, &c.—in fact, in all complaints, acute and chronic, which depress and weigh down the mind and body, it is an absolute, infallible specific. Ladies of delicate constitution, subject to those derangements peculiar to the feeble of their sex, will obtain immediate relief from its use.

Persons wishing the Lucina Cordial, by sending a remittance to Dr. MAGNIN, No. 203 Fulton-st., New-York, or to E. FLINT, druggist, corner of 9th-av., and 28th-st., can have it safely packed and sent to any part of the world. Price $3 per bottle, or two bottles for $5.

RICORD'S, VELPEAU'S, CIVIALE'S, ACTON'S CURLING'S, and the Venereal Hospital Practice, of Paris and London, by Dr. LARMONT. As some persons afflicted with Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Primary and Constitutional Syphilis, Nervous Debility, Seminal Emissions, Impotency, &c., may not be aware of the fact, he takes this medium of informing them that he is the only graduate in this City who is exclusively treating and curing those diseases, and whose connection with the European hospitals enables him to adopt the latest and most radical treatment, curing the oldest and most severe cases, at No. 82 Mercer-st., corner of Spring, opposite St. Nicholas Hotel, from 11 A. M. till 8 P. M., except Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, till 5 P. M. only. The Doctor's MEDICAL ADVISER AND MARRIAGE GUIDE, nearly 400 pages, 109 picture illustrations, is $1. Sold and mailed also by TOWNSEND, No. 222 Broadway, New-York. It gives the advertised medicines. It should be seen by the afflicted, before adopting any treatment, as it fully exposes the charlatans infesting this and other cities.

We commend Dr. LARMONT to the afflicted.—Courrier des Etats Unis, Staats Zeitung, Day Book, Atlas, &c.

DR. WATSON HAS FOR A LONG SERIES of years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated a vast number of cases, without an instance of failure. The remedies are mild, and there is no interruption to business or change of diet. Separate consulting rooms.

Dr. WATSON'S WORK, THE CAUSE AND CURE, is the only one which clearly explains the nature and mode of treatment of the venereal disease in its different forms: also Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, and Premature Exhaustion—the result of early indiscretion, excess, or other causes. Anatomical plates of a superior kind, and drawings of every form of disease. Price $1. No. 55 Walker-st., a few doors west of Broadway.

$1.000 FORFEITED AND NO CHARGE UNLESS CURED.—Dr. HUNTER'S Red Drop cures when regular treatment of other physicians and all other remedies fail. It is your only reliance for a thorough cure in certain diseases. No. 3 Division-st., the only place now so well known for the very many extraordinary cures it has performed, without diet or hindrance from business, when all other remedies only drive the disease into the blood—$1 only. This secures the patient from secondary attacks, and is the only remedy on earth that does it.

NEW-YORK STATE CANALS—NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS.—REPAIRS OF CHAMPLAIN CANAL.—In pursuance of Act, Chapter 105, Laws of 1857, and of a Resolution of the Contracting Board, notice is hereby given that sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, at the Canal Commissioners' Office, in the city of Albany, until Tuesday, the 13th day of April next, at 10 o'clock A. M., for furnishing all the materials and performing all the work necessary or that may be required, to keep in good repair, and in good navigable condition, during such time in each year as the Canal Commissioners, or Commissioner in charge shall direct, for a period of five years from the 10th day of May next.

SECTION NO. 1 CHAMPLAIN CANAL.

Penalty in Bond......$7,000

Together with all and each of the Side Cuts, Structures, Feeders and Reservoirs connected therewith.

Every proposal shall be accompanied by an affidavit indorsed thereon of each person uniting in such proposal, that he is not directly or indirectly interested in any other proposal for the same work or materials, or any part of the same; that he has no agreement or understanding with any other person to become interested in any other proposal or contract for the same work or materials, or any part thereof; and that no other person than such as shall be named in the proposal is interested in the same, or has any agreement or understanding to become interested in any contract that may be made in pursuance of such proposal.

Every proposal for the above-mentioned work or materials must be accompanied with a bond to the people of this State, in the penalty specified above, and which bond shall be signed by the party making such proposal, and two or more responsible sureties, with such evidence of their responsibility as the Contracting Board shall require, and which sureties shall justify in sums equal in the aggregate to twice the amount of such penalty.

Each proposal must be accompanied by the certificate of the Supervisor of the town, and the County Clerk or the County Judge of the County in which said surety shall reside, or any two of them, as to the responsibility of said sureties.

The persons to whom the work may be awarded will be required by the contracting Board to give the bond for the payment of laborers' wages, as required by chapter 278, of the laws of 1850.

No acceptance of a proposal or award of a contract by the contracting Board, and no contract made by them, or any interest in the same, shall be assignable to any person or persons, without the written consent of the Canal Commissioners.

The Commissioners will reserve fifteen per cent. of the amount of each relative monthly estimate of work done and materials delivered, as a security to the State for the performance of the contract, and at the expiration of the third month of each year the fifteen per cent. thus retained during the previous year shall be paid to the contractor, providing the provisions of the contract shall have been fully complied with.

In case the contracting Board shall be of opinion that the proposals made at any meeting thereof, pursuant to any advertisement, are, in consequence of any combination or otherwise, excessive and disadvantageous to the State, they may decline all or any of the said proposals, and advertise anew for the work and materials embraced therein.

The person or persons to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to receive the boats, tools, and other implements specified in the following schedule, and allow therefor the respective prices therein stated, viz.:

At a meeting of the Police Commissioners on Thursday, John Murphy, of the Fourth Precinct, for false swearing, Wm. P. Bennett, of the Seventh Precinct, for intoxication, and Oscar D. Fisher, of the Twelfth Precinct, for insubordination, were severally dismissed from the Department. A donation of 150 volumes from D. Appleton & Co. to Inspector Hutchings for a library in the Fifth Precinct Station house was accepted, and it was ordered that a bookcase should be made for them. Dr. R. H. Thompson, Health Officer, sent in a communication representing the necessity of sending a patrol force to Quarantine. It was referred. Mayor Tiemann asked that [illegible] might be added to the Mayor's squad, and presented a statement, the cream of which we published on Thursday, in which the labor performed by his [illegible] since January 1st was set forth. Mr. [illegible] moved, and it was carried, that as soon as [illegible] can be spared they be added to the Mayor's Squad. The Mayor presented the [illegible] of Officer Anderson's funeral, over $500, and it was referred to a Committee of the Board that it might be examined, and if found correct, sent into the Supervisors. The Board then went into secret session.

In the Court of General Sessions, yesterday, Mr. Levi S. Chatfield addressed the Jury in the case of Mason Thomas, alias Mason Spaulding, charged with kidnapping the negro Anderson, and selling him as a slave in Richmond, Va. Mr. Sedgwick replied for the people, and after an able charge from Recorder Barnard, the Jury found a verdict of guilty. An argument for a stay of proceedings, by Mr. Chatfield, will be heard before the Recorder at the last day of term. In this Court, yesterday, Michael Burns pleaded guilty to an attempt at grand larceny, and was sentenced to two years in the State Prison. James Hughes was convicted of an assault and battery on Officer Thomas, at Knickerbocker Hall, in the Eighth-avenue, on Jan. 16. James Fitzsimmons pleaded guilty to an attempt at burglary in the third degree, and was sentenced to the State Prison for two years. Patrick McCarthy was convicted of an assault on Henry Dennison, in Front-street on Feb. 11. Sentence suspended. Michael Weaver, convicted a short time since of petit larceny, was set free on suspension of sentence by Judge Russell. He was again caught in another act of robbery, brought up yesterday, and sentenced on the former conviction, by the Recorder, to one year in the Penitentiary.

Sea and Ship News.

The British brig Bloomer, which sailed from Boston on the 1st of March, with Major Ripley, Mr. Field, and some twenty persons for Placentia Bay, Newfoundland, has not yet been heard from at St. Johns. They had on board, as stores, 50 barrels of flour, 40 barrels of beef, 10 tubs of butter, and groceries to match—being a six months' outfit. A vessel which lately arrived at Boston mentions having been obliged to steer a long way to the southward, when passing Placentia Bay on account of the drift ice. There is, as yet, no occasion to be concerned for the safety of the brig, as the point at which she touches is nearly a hundred miles from a telegraph station. The brig Bloomer which arrived here on the 20th inst., from Turk's Island, is not the vessel above referred to.

Capt. Wilner, of the ship Mulhouse, at New-Orleans from Havre, reports that on the 28th February, in lat. 44°, long. 15° 10', he fell in with the French brig Alice, of Dunkirk, from Cardiff, with a cargo of coal, bound for Corso, in a sinking condition, having six feet of water in her hold. The Mulhouse, in answering to a hail from the brig, sent her a boat and took off those on board, comprising the Captain, mate and six seamen, and carried them to New-Orleans. They were all in a very exhausted state from hunger and exposure, having been in distress for twenty days. An English bark had previously laid off her, but in consequence of heavy weather was unable to render them assistance.

The compound wood and iron Egyptian steam-frigate Voyageur de la Mer, has been lying idly at her dock for several months. A Providence concern has recently contracted to remodel her engines, which, as at first constructed, were failures, by introducing the improvements known as Corliss' Patent. The new work will probably be completed by the middle of June. The ship will remain at Boston until completed, the work being finished at Providence and transported to Boston by Railroad.

The steamer Marshall, from New-York, bound for Albany, on Tuesday run into the sloop Tantivy, of New-Haven, off Kinderhook upper light. The bow-sprit of the sloop penetrated the hull of the steamboat, cutting a large hole in her "boot-top" and causing her to leak. The bow-sprit of the sloop was broken off, but she sustained no other damage. The steamboat was yesterday towed to this City for repairs.

The Salem Gazette says the bark Swallow, recently arrived at that port from Buenos Aryes, reports that on Thursday, Feb. 11, 1858, lat. 31° 53' S., long. 43° 45', experienced two very perceptible shocks of an earthquake. An interval of twenty seconds elapsed between the shocks. There was a calm, with a gentle swell from the north and east.

The rumor that the missing ship Helena, Capt. Thompson, of this port, had been heard from, cannot be traced to any reliable source.

A "Regulars" General Committee.—The "Regulars" or "Forresters," avowedly organized for the purpose of bringing about a reform in the management of the Tammany Society, organized a General Committee of five delegates from each Ward, last evening at Military Hall, No. 163 Bowery. The following persons were elected officers:

President—George C. Gennet.
Secretaries—Walter L. Cassin, S. E. Nolan.
Sergeant-at-Arms—R. C. McIntyre.

Coroner's Inquests.

Killed by Falling into a Vat of Boiling Sugar.—Coroner Gamble held an inquest yesterday on the body of Leonard Gibson, a laborer employed in the sugar refinery corner of King and Greenwich-streets, who accidentally fell into a vat of boiling sugar, and was so terribly scalded that he died immediately. Verdict in accordance with the facts stated. The accused was 20 years of age, and a native of Ireland.

Fires.

A Man and three Horses Burned to Death in the First-avenue.—A little after 3 o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the frame stable under the blacksmith-shop of Green & Wilson, No. 232 First-avenue, corner of Fifteenth-street. The fire soon communicated to the porter-house of Daniel Kitt, adjacent. Robert Cassidy, a young man who slept with Mr. Kitt in a small room in the rear of the bar-room, was burned to death. Mr. Kitt did not go to bed until about 2 o'clock, and owing to the lateness of the hour, asked Cassidy, who did not reside there, to stay all night. About an hour after going to bed Cassidy awoke Mr. Kitt and said the place was on fire. Both tried to make their escape, but owing to the dense smoke could not tell which way to go. Mr. Kitt fortunately succeeded in escaping through a window, nearly exhausted by suffocation. The body of Cassidy was found behind the bar, whither he had groped his way from the rear room.

The fire soon spread to the stables in the basement of the blacksmith-shop and porter house. In the stables were a number of horses, of which three, belonging to John Riley, John Horn and Stephen Myers, were burned to death. An ostler, named Barney Heustan, who slept in one of the stables, narrowly escaped death. It was not until the building had been some time burning that it was discovered that he was still in the building. He made his escape through a side window.

The total loss is estimated at $2,700. Messrs. Green & Wilson lost $300. No insurance. Several wagons in the shop, valued at $350, owned by various parties, were also burned; no insurance. Mr. Kitt's entire stock, valued at $750, was destroyed; no insurance. The value of the horses which were burned was $350. The buildings belonged to Messrs. Rut[illegible] & Rankin, whose loss is $1,000; no insurance. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary.

The body of Cassidy was conveyed to Bellevue Hospital, where Coroner Gamble held an inquest yesterday afternoon. In accordance with the facts elicited there, a verdict of "Accidental Death" was rendered. The deceased was a native of Ireland, 21 years of age, a stone-cutter by trade, and unmarried.

In Peck Slip.—At a few minutes to 4 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, the large smoke house of Messrs. [illegible] & Co., Nos. 29 and 31 Peck-slip, was discovered to be on fire, but the flames were soon extinguished. The damage is estimated at $600, which is covered by insurance in the Citizens and New-Amsterdam Insurance Companies. The fire was caused by a piece of meat falling into the fire.

Spontaneous Combustion?—At 3½ o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the basement of the store of Edward Dechaux, No. 709 Broadway. The returns say that it was probably "caused by spontaneous combustion, produced by the saw-dust sweepings and some linseed oil having been carelessly left on the floor!" The damage amounted to about $200, which is covered by insurance in fourteen different companies.

Supposed Incendiarism.—As Sergeant Scott, of the Twenty-second Ward, was passing down Ninth avenue at an early hour yesterday morning, he discovered some shavings burning in the carpenter's shop of Wm. Greenstead, in Forty-eighth-street. He at once gave an alarm and the fire was extinguished by a few pails of water. The shavings had evidently just been set on fire. An ineffectual search was made for the incendiary.

Police Intelligence.

Burglary and Chloroform.—Some daring burglar worked his way through the back cellar into the residence of Mr. Beck, in Thirty-sixth-street, between Broadway and Seventh-avenue, Thursday night. He stole $100 from the pockets of Mr. Beck's pantaloons, which were lying on a chair near the bed. He carried a trunk into the back yard, from which he took some silk dresses, and then went away. Mr. Beck, upon waking up in the morning, discovered the robbery, and that he was himself laboring under the partial influence of chloroform. He has no doubt in his own mind that the burglar first rendered him insensible with chloroform, and then rumaged his pockets. The house of Mr. Kitt, in the neighborhood, was broken into on the same night, and it is believed that the burglary was committed by the same party who visited Mr. Elliott. At Mr. Kitt's place the burglar found some plated spoons, which he broke in two, and threw on the floor. He then made his escape.

Surprise and Escape of a Burglar.—About 5 o'clock yesterday morning, as Officer Johnston, of the Eleventh Ward, was patrolling his beat, he discovered a man running up Third-street, between Avenues B and C, having a large bundle on his shoulder. On seeing the officer the man dropped his bundle, took to his heels and made his escape. The bundle, on examination, was found to contain forty frock coats, valued at $160, which had just been stolen from the clothing store No. 262 Second-street.

Burglar Arrested.—A man giving his name as Walter Oakley was detected at an early hour yesterday morning by the Twelfth Ward Police coming out of a dwelling-house in One-hundred-and-fifty-second-street, having in his possession a quantity of clothing and other articles. The burglar effected an entrance into the premises through a window of the basement. He was taken to the Fourth District Police Court and committed to await trial.

Dishonest Clerk.—Charles O'Connor, a boy 14 years of age, was arrested yesterday morning, charged with stealing money from his employer, L. Curey, of No. 484 Pearl-street. The accused has been in the employ of Mr. Curey for six months past, and it is supposed that during this time he has been stealing on an average from one to two dollars a day. Mr. Curey marked some money and thus discovered that the boy was the thief. The prisoner was taken before a Police Magistrate and detained for trial.

Another Attempted Suicide.—George Schult, a German, 35 years of age, attempted on Thursday evening to commit suicide by jumping off Pier No. 14 into the North River. A citizen rescued him and removed him to the First Ward Station-house, where, after drying his clothes by the fire, he went home, promising to keep out of the water.

Bigamy.—Jonathan D. Howell yesterday preferred a complaint of bigamy against Maria Martin. He alleges that he married the accused eight months ago, supposing that she was a widow, but that he has since ascertained that she has a husband living, to whom she was married fourteen years ago in Syracuse. Justice Connolly admitted the accused to bail.

A Bold Pickpocket.—As Mr. A. Hoyt, residing at No. 257 Houston-street, was passing up Broadway near Leonard-street, yesterday, a young fellow snatched his gold watch valued at $60 from his pocket and ran off. Mr. Hoyt pursued the thief, and seizing him recovered his watch and handed him over to a policeman. Justice Connolly locked him up for examination.

Charge of Arson.—An examination was had yesterday before Justice Quackenbush, in the case of Lawrence Garwin, arrested on Sunday last on a charge of setting fire to his residence corner Eleventh-avenue and Thirtieth-street. The Justice committed the accused for trial at the next term of the Court of General Sessions.

Alleged Perjury.—Harman Woodruff, of Auburn, was arrested, yesterday, in this City, charged by Mr. Leander R. Hopwood, doing business at the corner of Cortlandt and Greenwich streets, with committing perjury in a recent trial in the Marine Court. The accused gave bail in $2,000 to answer the charge.

It's Over! It's Over!—The interesting spectacle of a fish building a nest is over! The little Sticklebacks in the Aquaria at Barnum's Museum have finished their architectural labors. Their nests are finished. The spawn is deposited. The entrances are closed. Nature does the rest. Go and and see how delighted they are. To-night, besides a pretty afterpiece, the "Bride of an Evening" is presented for the very last time, at the Museum. This afternoon "Joan of Arc." The astounding feats of the india-rubber man both afternoon and evening. Could more be demanded?

Amusement.—Of all the places of amusement in this City, we know of none more worthy of patronage than Purdy's National Theatre. Here always may be found a good company, the pieces are well selected, of a lively and instructive nature, and they are well placed upon the stage; the house is kept clean and neatly ornamented, and, notwithstanding its being a low-priced theatre, it is kept as orderly as any of the larger places. To-night's programme contains the "Life of the Mormons," the "Rake's Progress," and "Middy Ashore," with a divertisement by the Carlo Family.

An effort will be made by several of the newly elected Aldermen, to have the sessions of the Common Council held in the afternoon next year, instead of in the evening, as heretofore. The proposed change finds favor with all classes, excepting, perhaps, the lobby.

The Corporation Counsel has reported to Superintendent Tallmadge that "there are no ordinances particularly applicable to the observance of Sunday."

The long-expected report of the Special Committee on a paid Fire Department, is promised next Monday evening. It will be quite lengthy.

A counterfeiter in the Kings County Jail, had made all the necessary arrangements to effect his escape yesterday, but fortunately his plan was discovered.

During the last year, the ladies of the Eastern District Industrial School have distributed the following articles: 45 hoods, 35 cloaks, 50 dresses, 60 undergarments, 50 pairs shoes, and 250 second-hand articles.

An attempt was made to burn the Truant House in the Eastern District on Thursday last. Fortunately the fire was discovered in time to prevent a conflagration. The Police are in pursuit of three boys who are supposed to have been engaged in the attempt.

During the month of March 846 patients were treated in the Eastern District Dispensary—Males, 335; females, 511. Nativity—United States, 479; Ireland, 326; England, 25; Germany, 13; Scotland, 1; France, 2. Diseases—Injuries, 33; minor surgery, 73; nervous, 25; abdomen, 81; skin, 62; rheumatism, 161; eye and ear, 30; abscess 8; lungs and throat, 70; urinary, 6; fevers, 35; vaccinated, 341; head, 66. Ages—Under 1 year, 75; between 1 and 5 years, 161; between 5 and 10 years, 106; between 10 and 30 years, 296; over 30 years, 208. Ten hundred and thirty prescriptions were gratuitously dispensed.

Mr. Cammeyer, proprietor of the Museum Building, has tendered the use of the hall for the Union Prayer-meetings, and the first will be held between 12 and 1 o'clock Monday next.

A very pleasant exhibition of School No. 19 Williamsburg, (Mr. Valentine, principal,) was repeated last night, so many being disappointed of seats on Thursday night, and a handsome fund raised for establishing a gymnasium in connection with the school. Addresses by the Rev. Wm. Porter, Judge Copeland, Superintendent Bulkley and others added to the interest of the occasion. To the young folks the most delightsome part of the entertainment was a colloquy between an antique Aunt Polly and her young friends, ending with a trial of skill upon their favorite instruments. This concert between the flax-wheel, the Wheeler & Wilson sewing-machine and piano, (the latter two being fixtures in the school,) was very comical and a decided hit.

Columbia Fire Insurance Company is not interested in the loss of Messrs Armstrong & Swan, Nos. 105 and 107 Fulton-street, Brooklyn, as reported in our paper yesterday.

Friday, April 9—P. M.

The movement on the Stock Exchange monopolized the attention of the Street to-day. There was no news from Europe to the close of business, and although two steamers sail in the morning—the Vanderbilt at 7 o'clock, for Havre, and the City of Baltimore at noon for Liverpool—there was but a moderate demand for Exchange, and the rates on London ½@¾ ₩ cent. below the last packet. The best bank names were done at 109@108¾, and good commercial bills at 108½@108 ₩ cent. Francs, 5.18¾@5.16¼. A moderate purchase of Gold in bars for the French market is reported, and there is also some bar Silver, recently received from South America, via Panama, to go forward. The money-lenders, in some cases, to-day are putting out loans at call at 4 ₩ cent. ₩ annum. The terms run from 4 to 6 ₩ cent. on approved collateral, both at bank and outside. This now general condition of ease, the most remarkable since the Summer of 1852, and the downward turn of Exchange, (after running up temporarily to specie point,) have greatly stimulated the recovery of the Stock Market, and as prices go up again, there is less disposition on the part of the Bulls to supply the wants of the short sellers, than was evinced two or three days ago. The consequence is, that this afternoon, subsequent to the close of the printed list, New-York Central went to 87½ ₩ cent. cash, 87¾ ₩ cent. buyer 30 days; Erie to 22¼@22½; Rock Island, 75@75½; Michigan Southern common stock, 24½; preferred shares, 46½; Reading, 47½; Toledo, 45; Hudson River, 30, and Panama 109 ₩ cent. At the very close, a slight concession was made from the extreme rates, though the whole market left off firm. The last stock to move for the further rise to-day was Erie, which had hung about 20½@21 since yesterday morning. It had been kept down mainly by the free sales of the steamboat party, who, from their undoubted strength and the position of one of the number as a director in the road, were supposed to be able to control the market on this stock, while making no decided headway against Hudson River or New-York Central. But the supply of cash stock on the Street running low, the leading seller had resort this afternoon to 30-day options which he offered at 21¾, the bid in this way being 21½ ₩ cent. The reaction in Rock Island has been remarkably sudden and strong. A prominent firm who had been large short seller, have the credit this afternoon of suddenly reversing their position in the Stock, leaving other parties short at low prices. The demand for Michigan Southern, common and preferred shares, and the attention paid to Toledo and Hudson River, were more marked to-day than for a week past. The advance continues in Panama, and 109 ₩ cent. was refused for the Stock this afternoon. The back bone of the Share list, and which could not be broken by the spirited onset made by the Bears, old and young, at the beginning of the week is New-York Central, which, from 80@82 on Monday, leaves off this afternoon at 87@87½ ₩ cent., with a very large line of shorts outstanding, and a diminished supply of certificates on the street. The forced decline, referred to, brought some orders, for London, about 2,500 shares, which were before limited below the market. The Bond list was firmer, with some heavy sales of Missouri sixes, 82½ cash, 82¾ buyer 60 days.

The Harlem Road received in March, on traffic of the month, $93,147, against $88,559 same month last year. The operating expenses of the month were $48,000, against $68,000 same month last year. The cost of operating the Hudson River Road has also been greatly reduced. The saving in this way for the first half of the new fiscal year, ending March 31, is stated to be $199,491—a sum more than equal, by about $30,000, to the decrease in gross traffic, which, in common with nearly all the roads after the crisis last Fall, was felt upon this line. We may add that this rule of economy has worked even stronger on the New-York Central, where the decrease of gross traffic since October 1, amounting to over half a million, has been more than covered, relatively, by the reduced scale of operating the road.

The business of the Illinois Central Railroad for March was as follows:

At the yearly election at the Shoe and Leather Bank, held a few days since, Mr. A. V. Stout was unanimously reëlected President, and Mr. John Harper Vice-President.

The Franklin Fire Insurance, of Philadelphia, has declared a semi-annual dividend of 6 and an extra dividend of 9 ₩ cent.

We understand that Mr. Thomas P. Kettell, the founder and present able editor of the United States Economist, is about to assume the editorship of Hunt's Merchants' Magazine, in place of the late Freeman Hunt. We hear also, that Mr. Samuel Grierson, formerly of the Evening Post, is to take charge of the money column of the Economist.

It is quite certain, we have reason to state, that the Collins steamers recently sold under foreclosure, and bought in by the mortgagees, will not be reorganized or put in line by Messrs. Brown Brothers. A contrary impression may have gone abroad, from the circumstance that this eminent house had a large share of the mortgage lien upon the steamers.

We hear that a truce has been entered into and a treaty of mutual interest concluded between the rival steamship houses of C. Vanderbilt and Morgan and Garrison. It was found, we believe, that the transit war in Nicaragua would, otherwise, never end. The earnest of good feeling between the hitherto belligerent parties is said to be a sale by Vanderbilt to Morgan of his Galveston and New-Orleans (or Texas) line of steamers, and a sale by Morgan to Vanderbilt of the Sierra Nevada and Orizaba, on the Pacific side, and the Queen of the Pacific, new steamer, now being finished at this port. When the opportunity offers for reopening the Nicaraguan Transit, it will probably be embraced by Vanderbilt, with the assent and possibly the assistance of Garrison & Morgan. Meantime the New-Orleans Crescent reports that:

> "The Alabama Legislature, at its late session, chartered the 'Mobile and Nicaraguan Steamship Company,' enabling it to commence business on a capital of $5,000, and with the privilege of increasing to $300,000. The shares are placed at $100, and enough stock has been already taken to secure the organization under the Charter. The Company have the right to build and own steamships to run from any port in the Atlantic to any port in the Gulf or Caribbean, from any port in the Atlantic to any port in the Atlantic, and from any port in the Gulf or Caribbean to any port in the Gulf or Caribbean, with the privilege of employing auxiliary vessels. A steamer will, we understand, be started by the Company from Mobile for San Juan del Norte on or about the 1st of June next, and it is their intention to put the prices of passage at a low rate, in order to favor emigration to Central America."

The Usury Question.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

We are glad to see that, in your money article of this morning, you are reminding our Legislature of the great and growing desire of our entire business community to have some essential change in our Usury Laws.

In the thorough discussions of the topic that have been heard and read within the past three or four years, every one of the objections to free currency have been overthrown, and all the theories and hypothetical cases that have been imagined or conjured up in favor of restriction, have been shown to be utterly delusive and fanciful, and we are glad that the Chamber of Commerce are refraining from their long papers, that are seldom read, and are resting their case upon two points.

First—That the United States Government, not the State Government, prepare such material as has been determined upon by the people, for money, and there stop; the State Legislature on their part merely sanctioning, by our general Banking law, the issuing of promises to pay money. Not a particle of right or reason or necessity to fix the price for its use arises from all this.

Secondly.—The class now seeking for this reform are not "money changers" nor "money lenders," but are good, useful, and enterprising borrowers.

These two points, they say, can be established immovably in one hour, before any fair and competent Committee at Albany. It is as certain as can be, that the most useful influences will, under the freedom we are seeking, flow from this great commercial centre, and reach every avenue of the American Continent. The opponents of reform often speak of certain Western States reënacting usury laws after trying the free principle. What kind of laws did they resort to, to save themselves? We are quite willing to accept, in compromise, the present usury laws of either of the States referred to. The more especially should we prefer the usury law of the little State of Rhode Island, where resides Mr. John Whipple—the champion and defender of the stringent law party.

But by all means, give us some change. Our present law is the laughing stock of the whole commercial world.

Memoranda.

Missing Vessel.—On the 30th January last, the brig Macon, Capt. Wm. Griffiths, with a crew of eight men all told, sailed from Savannah for New-York, and with the exception of having been seen on the 1st of February last, has not since been heard from. On the 1st of February, the steamship Florida, bound S., passed the brig 35 miles S. W. of Cape Lookout Shoals, at 7 o'clock A. M. It was blowing fresh at the time from the S., and the brig was about two miles inshore of the steamship. It was very thick and squally, with a tremendous sea on, for several hours after the steamship passed. Fears are entertained that she went on the Shoals that day, as she has not since been seen or heard of. Capt. Griffiths was a worthy and industrious man, who commanded the respect of all who knew him. The Macon was cleared with the following cargo: 2,500 sacks wheat, 50 bales cotton, 120 barrels coffee, 15 bales yarn, and sundry packages mdse.
